Contemporary World Narrative Fiction and the Spaces of Neoliberalism Michael K. Walonen, 2016-04-26 This book is a transnational study of how contemporary fiction writers from the United States and Canada to Nigeria to India to Dubai have conceptualized the emergent social spaces of the diverse corners of the neoliberal world system Over the span of the past three to four decades free market economic policies have been sold to or pushed upon every society on the globe in some way shape or form The upshot of this has been a world system structured in terms of a vast shift of power and resources from government to private enterprise dwindling civic life replaced by rising consumerism an emerging oligarchic rentier class large segments of population faced with meager material conditions of existence and few prospects of socio economic mobility and a looming sense of a near future dominated by further economic collapses and mounting social strife This book analyses a wide cultural array of some of the most poignant narrative engagements with neoliberalism in its various localized manifestations throughout the world

Changing the Story Gayle Greene, 1991 The feminist fiction movement of the 1960s 1980s was and is as significant a movement as Modernism Greene argues here Focusing on the metafiction of Doris Lessing Margaret Drabble Margaret Atwood and Margaret Laurence she traces the roots of this feminist literary explosion to the second women s movement and places these writers within a sociohistorical matrix and at the same time creates a new literary canon Greene also speculates on the future of feminist fiction in the current regressive period of edition unseen 17 50 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR
