Regenerative Stochastic Simulation Gerald S. Shedler,1992-12-17 Simulation is a controlled statistical sampling technique that can be used to study complex stochastic systems when analytic and or numerical techniques do not suffice The focus of this book is on simulations of discrete event stochastic systems namely simulations in which stochastic state transitions occur only at an increasing sequence of random times The discussion emphasizes simulations on a finite or countably infinite state space Develops probabilistic methods for simulation of discrete event stochastic systems Emphasizes stochastic modeling and estimation procedures based on limit theorems for regenerative stochastic processes Includes engineering applications of discrete even simulation to computer communication manufacturing and transportation systems Focuses on simulations with an underlying stochastic process that can specified as a generalized semi Markov process Unique approach to simulation with heavy emphasis on stochastic modeling Includes engineering applications for computer communication manufacturing and transportation systems

Discrete-Event Simulation George S. Fishman, 2013-03-09 Discrete event simulation consists of a collection of techniques that when applied to a discrete event dynamical system generates sequences called sample paths that characterize its behavior The collection includes modelling concepts for abstracting the essential features of a system using specially designed software for converting these relationships into computer executable code capable of generating the requisite sample path data outlining procedures for converting these data into estimates of systems performances and then illustrating methods for assessing how well these estimates approximate true but unknown system behavior This book is intended for upper level undergraduate and graduate students in operations research and management science mathematics industrial engineering computer science and business and features extensive exercises throughout This concept of modelling complex systems allows a relatively low cost way of gathering information for decision making Principally offered are four problems for student exercises each is progressively brought forward through the modelling programming and analysis chapters providing continuity to the learning process
