Respiratory Dysfunction

Case Study - Eli Martin – Part 1

10:00am

Eli Martin, a 15-year-old male presents to the Emergency Department (ED) with a history of asthma and symptoms that are not resolving with his current rescue medications.

His asthma symptoms have been controlled with the use of a long-acting inhaler twice daily, but an increase in seasonal allergies and a recent upper respiratory infection (URI) have caused an exacerbation of his symptoms.

Eli rarely uses his peak expiratory flow meter (PEFM); instead, he waits until his symptoms become severe before starting to use his rescue medications. The nurse completes a history and physical assessment and finds the following.

Assessment Findings:

- A. Temperature = 98.6° F (37°C)
- B. Heart Rate = 114 beats/minute
- C. Respirations = 28 breaths/minute
- D. SpO<sub>2</sub> = 88% on room air
- E. Blood Pressure = 110/64 mmHg
- F. Wheezing auscultated in both lungs
- G. Unable to lie down on the stretcher
- H. Peak expiratory flow meter results are <50% of baseline)

Which of these assessment findings need to be addressed by the nurse? Explain why you chose these options and not the others.

Answer: B, C, E, F, G, H

This adolescent's heart rate, respirations are elevated. His SpO<sub>2</sub> and peak expiratory flow meter results are lower than normal. A peak expiratory flow rate of 50% indicates that asthma is not well controlled, and an acute exacerbation may be present. A normal SpO<sub>2</sub> level ranges from 95-100%. He is having difficulty breathing when lying down and wheezing is noted in both lungs. His blood pressure is normal for age.

The New Nihilism Costantino Esposito, 2024-11-01 In this highly engaging book Costantino Esposito argues that nihilism is not merely the loss of the classic values of the Western tradition rather it presents a critical opportunity to ask pertinent timely questions about the meaning of self and the world Nihilism is a problem that has troubled the culture philosophy and worldview of people and societies for more than a century a problem that seemed thanks to the advance of cultural relativism to have become an obvious and globally shared condition However in recent years the conversation around nihilism has begun to change The questions that nihilism once declared impossible to answer questions about the ultimate meaning of self and reality the truth of the person and history our desire to understand ourselves in relation to the infinite are reemerging in today's culture and proving to be profound reasonable and of vital importance In its classical form nihilism is the loss of values and ideals but its modern iteration manifests as an irreducible need more basic but far more challenging Esposito suggests that rather than being an obstacle nihilism can become an opportunity to search for true meaning for our experiences in the world With philosophical rigor he intercepts and narrates this new phenomenon focusing on social trends poetic voices philosophical and scientific visions ethical problems and aesthetic experiences The
