The DSM-5 in Perspective Steeves Demazeux, Patrick Singy, 2015-02-28 Since its third edition in 1980 the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders DSM of the American Psychiatric Association has acquired a hegemonic role in the health care professions and has had a broad impact on the lay public The publication in May 2013 of its fifth edition the DSM 5 marked the latest milestone in the history of the DSM and of American psychiatry In The DSM 5 in Perspective Philosophical Reflections on the Psychiatric Babel experts in the philosophy of psychiatry propose original essays that explore the main issues related to the DSM 5 such as the still weak validity and reliability of the classification the scientific status of its revision process the several cultural gender and sexist biases that are apparent in the criteria the comorbidity issue and the categorical vs dimensional debate For several decades the DSM has been nicknamed The Psychiatric Bible This volume would like to suggest another biblical metaphor the Tower of Babel Altogether the essays in this volume describe the DSM as an imperfect and unachievable monument a monument that was originally built to celebrate the new unity of clinical psychiatric discourse but that ended up creating as a result of its hubris ever more profound practical divisions and theoretical difficulties Empathy, Intersubjectivity, and the Social World Anna Bortolan, Elisa Magri, 2022-02-07 The volume gathers together over twenty contributions that emerged from a conference held in in honour of Dermot Moran on the occasion of his retirement from University College Dublin The book explores the contribution of phenomenology to empathy intersubjectivity affectivity and the constitution of the cultural and social world from both a historical and an applied philosophical perspective Theoretical and methodological differences in approach notwithstanding phenomenologists have converged in the recognition that self and others are fundamentally related and have provided fine grained accounts of the origin forms and implications of such relationship The volume critically reconstructs and further develops central aspects of this body of research within a pluralistic framework It offers a renewed investigation of the work of classical phenomenologists like Husserl Heidegger Sartre and Merleau Ponty as well as an original application of phenomenological concepts and theories to contemporary discussions on intentionality culture emotions and morality The book provides insights for scholars in phenomenological philosophy as well as in philosophy of mind and interpersonal and social experience

The Affective Core Self Lajos Horváth, 2024-04-03 This book extends the contemporary concept of the minimal self by introducing the affective core self The overall aim is to integrate certain psychoanalytical ideas into the phenomenological investigation of passivity and reformulate the idea of the phenomenological unconscious This volume contributes to the multidimensional analysis of the self by positioning the affective core self between the layers of the more minimal and the less minimal self It underscores the importance of the unconscious in the constitution of the affective core self by providing the comparative analysis of the phenomenological and the psychoanalytical unconscious Furthermore comparisons are drawn between Freud s conception of the afterwardsness of trauma and the phenomenological notion of retroactive sense constitution The book concludes that retroactive sense making is a double sided phenomenon and differentiates between implicit bodily and conscious narrative retroactive sense constitution In order to bolster the idea of implicit bodily sense constitution the volume also examines and utilizes contemporary insights on the nature of body memory The conclusion claims that the affective core self is constituted in time by means of the underlying processes of the two sided retroactive sense constitution This text appeals to students and researchers working in phenomenology and philosophy of mind
