The Essays Only You Can Write Irene Papoulis, 2023-10-17 The Essays Only You Can Write offers a perspective on essay writing that spotlights a writer's uniqueness. Resisting the perception that personal and academic writing are at odds with one another, it treats the impulse to write personally as potential fuel for a variety of writing purposes. The book encourages students to think like academics pursuing their enthusiasms, trusting their ideas and questioning their conclusions by leading them through three main writing assignments: a personal essay, an essay based on texts, and a research essay. Each chapter offers exercises and strategies for various stages in the pre-writing, drafting, and revision processes. Freewriting, extensive attention to planning, devising a structure and order of ideas that both promote and reflect engagement with a topic, developing rhetorical awareness and knowledge of conventions, and an advocacy for expressive, socially responsible writing are all central elements of the text's instruction. By acknowledging the emotions inherent in the writing process, many of which can muddle thinking ("I don't want anyone to see this," "what if I make mistakes," "what if the writing isn't good," "I don't want to be critiqued," etc.), Papoulis helps beginning college writers to navigate the psychological as well as the technical roadblocks that can get in the way of their best personal and academic writing.

Kirklighter, 2012-02-01 Scholarship on the personal essay has focused on Western European and U S varieties of the form In Traversing the Democratic Borders of the Essay Cristina Kirklighter extends these boundaries by reading the Latin American and Latino essayists Paulo Freire Victor Villanueva and Ruth Behar alongside such canonical figures as Montaigne Bacon Emerson and Thoreau In this fascinating journey into the commonalities and differences among these essayists Kirklighter focuses on various elements of the personal essay self reflexivity accessibility spontaneity and a rhetoric of sincerity in order to argue for a more democratic form of writing in academia one that would democratize the academy and promote nation building By using these elements in their teachings and writings Kirklighter argues educators can play a significant role in helping others who experience academic alienation achieve a better sense of belonging as they slowly dismantle the walls of the ivory tower Confessions of a Yiddish Writer and Other Essays Chava Rosenfarb, 2019-06-11 Chava Rosenfarb 1923

2011 was one of the most prominent Yiddish novelists of the second half of the twentieth century Born in Poland in 1923 she survived the Lodz ghetto Auschwitz and Bergen Belsen immigrating to Canada in 1950 and settling in Montreal There she wrote novels poetry short stories plays and essays including The Tree of Life A Trilogy of Life in the Lodz Ghetto a seminal novel on the Holocaust Confessions of a Yiddish Writer and Other Essays comprises thirteen personal and literary essays by Rosenfarb ranging from autobiographical accounts of her childhood and experiences before and during the Holocaust to literary criticism that discusses the work of other Jewish writers The collection also includes two travelogues which recount a trip to Australia and another to Prague in 1993 the year it became the capital of the Czech Republic While several of these essays appeared in the prestigious Yiddish literary journal Di goldene keyt most were never translated This book marks the first time that Rosenfarb's non-fiction writings have been presented together in English. A compilation of the memoir and diary excerpts that formed the basis of Rosenfarb's widely acclaimed fiction Confessions of a Yiddish Writer and Other Essays deepens the reader's understanding of an incredible Yiddish woman and her experiences as a survivor in the post-Holocaust world. Essays and Essay-writing William Maddux Tanner, 1918 Encyclopedia of the Essay Tracy

Chevalier, 2012-10-12 This groundbreaking new source of international scope defines the essay as nonfictional prose texts of between one and 50 pages in length. The more than 500 entries by 275 contributors include entries on nationalities, various categories of essays such as generic such as sermons, aphorisms, individual major works, notable writers, and periodicals that created a market for essays and particularly famous or significant essays. The preface details the historical development of the essay and the alphabetically arranged entries usually include biographical sketch, nationality, era, selected writings, list of additional readings, and anthologies. The End of Composition Studies David W. Smit, 2007-03-29 Setting forth an innovative new model for what it means to be a writing teacher in the era of writing across the curriculum, The End of Composition Studies urges a reconceptualization of graduate work in rhetoric and composition, systematically critiques the limitations of current pedagogical practices at the postsecondary level, and proposes a reorganization of all academic units. David W. Smit calls into question two major assumptions of the field: that writing is a universal ability and that college-level writing is foundational to advanced learning. Instead, Smit holds, writing involves a wide range of knowledge and skill that cannot be learned solely in writing classes but must be acquired by immersion in various discourse communities in and out of academic settings. The End of Composition Studies provides a compelling rhetoric and rationale for eliminating the field and reenvisioning the profession as truly interdisciplinary, a change that is necessary in order to fulfill the needs and demands of students, instructors, administrators, and our democratic society. Underserved Women of Color, Voice, and Resistance

Sonja M. Brown Givens, Keisha Edwards Tassie, 2014-03-20 Contemporary research on the lives and experiences of women of color tends to neglect the influence of women's perceived access to voice as they manage tensions related to race, class, and gender. Underserved Women of Color: Voice and Resistance: Claiming a Seat at the Table contributes to current dialogues that construct Black Feminist Theory as active critical engagement within dominant American institutions that oppress women of color in their daily lives. Women of color face unique social challenges that exist at the intersections of race, gender, class, and sexual orientation. While some challenges are common to women of color, others reflect the distinct journey each woman makes as she negotiates her identity within her family, professional circle, social and romantic relationships, and community. The editors have constructed a rich collection of voices in this work exploring the politics of women of color across various social contexts. Estranging the Familiar George Douglas Atkins, 1992 In Estranging the Familiar, G. Douglas Atkins addresses the often-lamented state of scholarly and critical writing as he argues for a criticism that is at once theoretically informed and personal. The revitalized critical writing he advocates may entail but is not limited to a return to the essay; the form critical writing once took and the form that is now enjoying a resurgence of popularity and excellence Atkins contends that to reach a general audience criticism must move away from the impersonality of modern criticism and contemporary theory without embracing the old fashioned essay The venerable familiar essay may remain the basis Atkins writes but its conventional openness receptivity and capaciousness must extend to theory philosophy and the candor that seems to mark the tail end of the twentieth century In noting the timeliness if not the necessity of a return to the essay Atkins also considers our culture's parallel return to the personal When the essay combines good writing with the concerns of the personal Atkins says it becomes a form of criticism that is readable vital and potentially attractive to a large readership Atkins hopes critics will tap into the revitalized interest the essay now enjoys without ignoring the considerable insights and advances of contemporary theory He argues that despite claims to the contrary there is no inherent incompatibility between the essay and modern theory As Atkins considers various experiments in critical writing from Plato to the present notably feminist interest in the personal and autobiographical he contends that these attempts although undeniably important fall short of the desired goal when they emphasize the merely expressive and neglect the artful quality good writing can bring to personal criticism The final third of the book consists of a series of experiments in critical writing that represent the author's own attempts to bridge the gap between theory and popular criticism between an academic and a general audience In essays that illustrate the rhetorical power of the form Atkins describes the reciprocal relationship between his life experience and a reading of The Odyssey explains the role that theory has played in his personal development and chronicles his attempts to find a voice as a writer
