fellow that I am very much in your debt. He had never said as much before and I must admit that his words gave me keen pleasure for I had often been piqued by his indifference to my admiration and to the attempts which I had made to give publicity to his methods. I was proud too to think that I had so far mastered his system as to apply it in a way which earned his approval. He now took the stick from my hands and examined it for a few minutes with his naked eyes. Then with an expression of interest he laid down his cigarette and carrying the cane to the window he looked over it again with a convex lens.

Mr Sherlock Holmes who was usually very late in the mornings save upon those not infrequent occasions when he was up all night was seated at the breakfast table. I stood upon the hearth rug and picked up the stick which our visitor had left behind him the night before. It was a fine thick piece of wood bulbous headed of the sort which is known as a Penang lawyer. Just under the head was a broad silver band nearly an inch across. To James Mortimer M.R.C.S. from his friends of the C.C.H. was engraved upon it with the date 1884. It was just such a stick as the old-fashioned family practitioner used to carry dignified solid and reassuring. Well Watson what do you make of it? Holmes was sitting with his back to me and I had given him no sign of my occupation. How did you know what I was doing? I believe you have eyes in the back of your head. I have at least a well polished silver plated coffee pot in front of me said he. But tell me Watson what do you make of our visitor's stick? Since we have been so unfortunate as to miss him and have no notion of his errand this accidental souvenir becomes of importance. Let me hear you reconstruct the man by an examination of it. I think said I following as far as I could the methods of my companion that Dr Mortimer is a successful elderly medical man well esteemed since those who know him give him this mark of their appreciation. Good said Holmes. Excellent I think also that the probability is in favour of his being a country practitioner who does a great deal of his visiting on foot. Why so? Because this stick though originally a very handsome one has been so knocked about that I can hardly imagine a town practitioner carrying it. The thick iron ferrule is worn down so it is evident that he has done a great amount of walking with it. Perfectly sound said Holmes. And then again there is the friends of the C.C.H. I should guess that to be the Somerset Hunt the local hunt to whose members he has possibly given some surgical assistance and which has made him a small presentation in return. Really Watson you excel yourself said Holmes pushing back his chair and lighting a cigarette. I am bound to say that in all the accounts which you have been so good as to give of my own small achievements you have habitually underrated your own abilities. It may be that you are not yourself luminous but you are a conductor of light. Some people without possessing genius have a remarkable power of stimulating it. I confess my dear fellow that I am very much in your debt. He had never said as much before and I must admit that his words gave me keen pleasure for I had often been piqued by his indifference to my admiration and to the attempts which I had made to give publicity to his methods. The Hound of the Baskervilles (Sherlock Holmes #5) Arthur Conan Doyle, 2020-05-31 The Hound of the Baskervilles is the third of the crime novels written by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle featuring the detective Sherlock Holmes Dr James Mortimer asks Sherlock Holmes for advice following the death of his friend Sir Charles Baskerville Sir Charles was found dead on the grounds of his Devonshire estate Baskerville Hall Mortimer now fears for Sir Charles's nephew and sole heir Sir Henry Baskerville who is the new master of Baskerville Hall The death was attributed to a heart attack but Mortimer is suspicious because Sir Charles died with an expression of horror on his face and Mortimer noticed the footprints of a gigantic hound about 50 yards from where Sir Charles lay dead The Baskerville family has supposedly been under a curse since the era of the English Civil War when ancestor Hugo Baskerville allegedly offered his soul to the devil for help in abducting a woman and was reportedly killed by a giant spectral hound Sir Charles believed in the curse and was apparently fleeing from something in fright when he died The primary mystery involves the death of Sir Charles Baskerville at his estate in the beautiful countryside of Devon but interestingly the author also includes a number of mini mysteries which I found engaging and helped keep my interest throughout In fact the story commenced with a mini mystery involving the identity of the owner of a walking cane left in Holmes office Dr Watson produced a very sound analysis of what type of person the owner might be by observing such things as wear and tear and bite marks on the cane itself However after Watson's seemingly brilliant observations Holmes then proceeded to critically tear apart Watson's assumptions and arguments piece by piece until the poor man's position was totally and irrevocably obliterated This seems to be a bit of a theme if I was Dr Watson not sure I'd hang around with a bloke like Sherlock Yet despite this condescending treatment Dr Watson seems to have almost a sycophantic relationship with Sherlock It must be said though Sherlock Holmes is a very impressive character His lines of reasoning and modus operandi are always logical and altogether brilliant To me his powers of deduction always seemed to be sensible he used very linear arguments and despite the red herrings lying about the place he made complete sense The narration by Dr Watson is a great tool used by the author to not only explain what was going on but to re-empathise parts of the narrative that may be a bit too complex for my addled brain anyway but he also used instruments such as Dr Watson's written reports to Holmes to further cement the plot into the readers mind

The Hound of the Baskervilles (Sherlock Holmes #5) Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, 2020-06-14 The Hound of the Baskervilles is the third of the crime novels written by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle featuring the detective Sherlock Holmes Dr James Mortimer asks Sherlock Holmes for advice following the death of his friend Sir Charles Baskerville Sir Charles was found dead on the grounds of his Devonshire estate Baskerville Hall Mortimer now fears for Sir Charles's nephew and sole heir Sir Henry Baskerville who is the new master of Baskerville Hall The death was attributed to a heart attack but Mortimer is suspicious because Sir Charles died with an expression of horror on his face and

Mortimer noticed the footprints of a gigantic hound about 50 yards from where Sir Charles lay dead The Baskerville family has supposedly been under a curse since the era of the English Civil War when ancestor Hugo Baskerville allegedly offered his soul to the devil for help in abducting a woman and was reportedly killed by a giant spectral hound Sir Charles believed in the curse and was apparently fleeing from something in fright when he died The primary mystery involves the death of Sir Charles Baskerville at his estate in the beautiful countryside of Devon but interestingly the author also includes a number of mini mysteries which I found engaging and helped keep my interest throughout In fact the story commenced with a mini mystery involving the identity of the owner of a walking cane left in Holmes office Dr Watson produced a very sound analysis of what type of person the owner might be by observing such things as wear and tear and bite marks on the cane itself However after Watson s seemingly brilliant observations Holmes then proceeded to critically tear apart Watson s assumptions and arguments piece by piece until the poor man s position was totally and irrevocably obliterated This seems to be a bit of a theme if I was Dr Watson not sure I d hang around with a bloke like Sherlock Yet despite this condescending treatment Dr Watson seems to have almost a sycophantic relationship with Sherlock It must be said though Sherlock Holmes is a very impressive character His lines of reasoning and modus operandi are always logical and altogether brilliant To me his powers of deduction always seemed to be sensible he used very linear arguments and despite the red herrings lying about the place he made complete sense The narration by Dr Watson is a great tool used by the author to not only explain what was going on but to re empathise parts of the narrative that may be a bit too complex for my addled brain anyway but he also used instruments such as Dr Watson s written reports to Holmes to further cement the plot into the readers mind
