The Kenyan Cut Flower Industry and Global Market Dynamics Andreas Gemählich, 2022 Investigates the production trade and consumption of the bouquets sold in European supermarkets and the consequences of this for the globalised economy From a macro perspective it appears that the cut flower industry has changed into a buyer driven value chain with corporate retailers as the new lead firms Yet as this book shows this is insufficient to explain how new trade relations come into being and the consequences of this not only for global economics but for the producers climate change and rural livelihoods As the retailers and wholesalers of the flower industry in the West linked directly to producers in the Global South trade relations changed fundamentally and this critical new book explores the complexities of the power asymmetries and the way in which corporate retailers have shaped the market to promote their own interests as well as the role non economic actors played This book examines in detail the situation at Lake Naivasha Kenya which has played a central part within this new market order Since the 1970s the area has developed into one of the most important production areas for the ready made bouquets that sell so cheaply in European supermarkets For the flower growers themselves however coping with the new conditions of supply and demand the new market order has brought financial precariousness Farms needed to be flexible in the production and marketing of their flowers Yet while they were Antidumping J. Michael Finger, 2025-10-01 Antidumping is a threat to the liberal trading system that post World War II Western leadership struggled courageously and effectively to create It offers a GATT legal means to destroy the GATT system leading to restrictions on more U S imports than even the Multi Fibre Arrangement This book presents studies of five industries whose exports have been hard hit by antidumping actions Each of these studies avoids the legalisms and the jargon of antidumping and answers a straightforward question was the national economic interest of either the exporting or the importing country improved by the antidumping actions that were taken. The contributors not only ask questions and present viable answers but also provide a proposal that offers both consistence with GATT and good economics. This book will be of interest to lawyers, political scientists, economists and business people. It has intentionally avoided the specialized language of trade regulation so that it may be more readily accessible to anyone interested in international commercial policy.

Soap Gazette and Perfumer, 1920 Florists' Review, 1903 Weekly Florists' Review Gilbert Leonard Grant, 1925 The Gardener's Monthly Thomas Meehan, 2023-03-04 Reprint of the original first published in 1872 The American Florist, 1925 Country Life, 1907 Breeding of Ornamental Crops: Bulbous Flowers Muneeb Ahmad Wani, Jameel M. Al-Khayri, Shri Mohan Jain, 2025-03-28 Flowers and other ornamental plants are used for all social occasions. Consumers' preferences dictate the development of novel flower traits such as fragrance, flower color and shape, early flowering, less water consumption and long shelf life. The worldwide floricultural industry is worth over 50 billion Euros and can serve as a component of food security, influence socio-economic development and generate employment. The ornamental industry is regarded as one of the fastest growing farm industries. This industry is sustained through novelty; thus, there is an increasing demand for plant breeders in both public and private sectors to fulfill consumers' needs. Biotechnological approaches such as genetic transformation, genomics, nanobiotechnology and gene editing are well suited for designing custom-made novel traits of flowers benefiting both the ornamental and cosmetic industries. Moreover, micropropagation is well exploited commercially for large-scale plant production along with vertical and digital farming and artificial intelligence, especially by the floriculture industry. This book focuses on advances in breeding strategies of bulbous flower ornamental plants. Each chapter contributed by eminent authors is devoted to an individual ornamental species or a group of related species. It provides an in-depth understanding of modern breeding strategies including traditional methods and biotechnological approaches. Topics covered in each chapter in relation to the subject species include current cultivation practices and challenges, germplasm biodiversity and conservation, traditional breeding, molecular breeding, tissue culture applications, genetic engineering and gene editing, mutation breeding, hybridization and future research directions. Major concepts are illustrated with color photos.
