Legends of the House of the Cretan Woman Sulaiman al-Kretli, Robert Grenville Gayer-Anderson, 2001 The House of the Cretan Woman Bait al Kretliya is a sixteenth century merchant's house that stands adjacent to the ninth century mosque of Ibn Tulun in one of the oldest quarters of Cairo Both the house and the mosque are the subjects of the popular myths gathered in this magical book In the 1930s the house served as the home of Gayer Anderson Pasha an English doctor and art collector who furnished it with his collections and left it to the Egyptian government in 1945 and it was Gayer Anderson who collected and translated the stories that are the subject of this book from Sheikh Sulaiman the last head of the Kretli family and guardian of the saint's tomb that flanks the house He also commissioned a local artisan to create a series of illustrations on copper plates one to depict each of the fourteen legends and published the stories with the drawings along with his own introductory description of the house in a small edition in England in 1951 that is now long out of print For this new edition of this classic book the author's grandson Theo Gayer Anderson an illustrator and a specialist in restoration and conservation has enhanced and added color to the original monochrome drawings to reanimate the world of benevolent serpents magical wells sultans and serving girls djinns and saints that surrounds the house and the mosque This unique collection is a significant piece of local history that offers a fascinating sidelight on two of Cairo's best known monuments

The House of God Ernest Henry Short, 1926

The House of Service David Tittensor, 2014-02-28 David Tittensor offers a groundbreaking new perspective on the G len movement a Turkish Muslim educational activist network that emerged in the 1960s and has grown into a global empire with an estimated worth of 25 billion Named after its leader Fethullah G len the movement has established more than 1 000 secular educational institutions in over 140 countries aiming to provide holistic education that incorporates both spirituality and the secular sciences Despite the movement's success little is known about how its schools are run or how Islam is operationalized Drawing on thirteen months of ethnographic fieldwork in Turkey Tittensor explores the movement's ideo theology and how it is practiced in the schools His interviews with both teachers and graduates from Africa Indonesia Central Asia and Turkey show that the movement is a missionary organization but of a singular kind its goal is not simply widespread religious conversion but a quest to recoup those Muslims who have apparently lost their way and to show non Muslims that Muslims can embrace modernity and integrate into the wider community Tittensor also examines the movement s operational side and shows how the schools represent an example of Mohammad Yunus s social business model a business with a social cause at its heart The House of Service is an insightful exploration of one of the world s largest transnational Muslim associations and will be invaluable for those seeking to understand how Islam will be perceived and practiced in the future

Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons,1878 The House of Islam Ed Husain,2018-06-19 Ed Husain has become one of the most vital Muslim voices in the world The House of Islam could very well be his magnum opus Reza Aslan 1 New York Times bestselling author of Zealot This should be compulsory reading Peter Frankopan author of the international bestseller The Silk Roads Today Islam is to many in the West an alien force with Muslims held in suspicion Failure to grasp the inner workings of religion and geopolitics has haunted American foreign policy for decades and has been decisive in the new administration s controversial orders The intricacies and shadings must be understood by the West not only to build a stronger more harmonious relationship between the two cultures but also for greater accuracy in predictions as to how current crises such as the growth of ISIS will develop and from where the next might emerge The House of Islam addresses key questions and points of disconnection What are the roots of the conflict between Sunni and Shi a Muslims that is engulfing Pakistan and the Middle East Does the Koran encourage the killing of infidels The book thoughtfully explores the events and issues that have come from and contributed to the broadening gulf between Islam and the West from the United States overthrow of Iran s first democratically elected leader to the emergence of ISIS from the declaration of a fatwa on Salman Rushdie to the attack on the offices of Charlie Hebdo Authoritative and engaging Ed Husain leads us clearly and carefully through the nuances of Islam and its people taking us back to basics to contend that the Muslim world need not be a stranger to the West nor our enemy but our peaceable allies
