The Heliand, 1966 Mariana Scott poet and translator of Hofmannsthal Meyrink Celan and others translates the eighth century Old Saxon Heliand into its original meter in this work originally published in 1966 This anonymous masterpiece presents the life of Christ and affords an excellent insight into medieval life

The Saxon Savior G. Ronald Murphy, 1995 This study is an interpretation and appreciation of the art of the Heliand the 9th century Saxon epic poem in which the Christian Gospel of the four evangelists is reexpressed in Germanic terms Murphy examines in detail the ingenious and sensitive poetic analogies through which familiar texts the Nativity the Sermon on the Mount the Beatitudes and the Lord's Prayer the Passion and Resurrection are transformed into Germanic settings and concepts The first book in English on the Heliand this study offers a new socio political explanation of the possible motives of the unknown Heliand author in undertaking this enormous and brilliantly realized poetic task

The Heliand Mariana Scott, 1966 An epic poem in Old Saxon written in the first half of the 9th century The title means saviour in Old Saxon cf German and Dutch Heiland meaning saviour and the poem is a Biblical paraphrase that recounts the life of Jesus in the alliterative verse style of a Germanic epic Heliand is the largest known work of written Old Saxon

Rethinking Mission in the Postcolony Marion Grau, 2011-06-30 Offers a progressive Christian approach to soteriology and missiology in a global postcolonial context This book proposes an integration of gospel and culture It aims to steer a third course towards an integration of the knowledge and treasures the losses and laments of Christianities forged in colonizing and colonized societies

Russell, 1996 Discusses German influence on the development of early medieval Christianity Saving Paradise Rita Nakashima Brock, Rebecca Ann Parker, 2008 Saving Paradise offers a fascinating new lens on the history of Christianity asking how its early vision of beauty evolved into a vision of torture and what changes in society and theology marked that evolution Re-imagining Periphery Charlotta Hillerdal, Kristin Ilves, 2020-06-30 This edited volume delves into the current state of Iron Age and Early Medieval research in the North. Over the last two decades of archaeological explorations, theoretical vanguards and introduction of new methodological strategies together with a growing amount of critical studies in archaeology taking their stance from a multidisciplinary perspective have dramatically changed our understanding of Northern Iron Age societies. The profound effect of 6th century climatic events on social structures in Northern Europe, a reintegration of written sources and archaeological material, genetic and isotopic studies entirely reinterpreting previously excavated grave material are but a few examples of such land winnings. The aim of this book is to provide an intense and cohesive focus on the characteristics of contemporary Iron Age research explored under the subheadings of field and methodology, settlement and spatiality, text and translation and interaction and impact. Gathering the work of leading established researchers and field archaeologists based throughout northern Europe and in the frontline of this new emerging image, this volume provides a collective summary of our current understandings of the Iron Age and Early Medieval Era in the North. It also facilitates a renewed interaction between academia and the ever growing field of infrastructural archaeology by integrating cutting edge fieldwork and developing field methods in the corpus of Iron Age and Early Medieval studies. In this book, many hypotheses are pushed forward from their expected outcomes and analytical work is not afraid of taking risks, thus advancing the field of Iron Age research and also hopefully inspiring to a continued creation of new knowledge Tracing the Trails in the Medieval World Albrecht Classen, 2020-10-11 Every human being knows that we are walking through life following trails, whether we are aware of them or not. Medieval poets from the anonymous composer of Beowulf to Marie de France, Hartmann von Aue, Gottfried von Strassburg and Guillaume de Lorris to Petrarch and Heinrich Kaufringer predicated their works on the notion of the trail and elaborated on its epistemological function. We can grasp here an essential concept that determines much of medieval and early modern European literature and philosophy, addressing the direction which all protagonists pursue, as powerfully illustrated also by the anonymous poets of Herzog Ernst and Sir Gawain and the Green Knight. Dante's Divina Commedia in fact proves to be one of the most explicit poetic manifestations of the fundamental idea of the trail, but we find strong parallels also in powerful contemporary works such as Guillaume de Deguileville's Le Pèlerinage de la vie humaine and in many mystical tracts The Encyclopedia of Christianity Erwin Fahlbusch, Geoffrey William Bromiley, 1999 The Encyclopedia of Christianity is the first of a five volume English translation of the third revised edition of Evangelisches Kirchenlexikon. This collection is in honour of E G Stanley They apply Stanley s approach of wise scepticism to provide new and exciting readings of difficult and rewarding fields including Old English metre and verse and Beowulf The Gothic Screen Jacqueline E. Jung, 2012-12-28 This book reveals how Gothic choir screens through both their architecture and sculpture were vital vehicles of communication and shapers of community within the Christian church Genesis B and the Comedic Imperative John F. Vickrey, 2015-02-12 Readers of Old English would generally agree that the poem Genesis B a translation into Old English of an Old Saxon that is continental retelling of the story of the Fall is a vigorous and moving narrative They would disagree however as to the meaning of the poem Some hold that it reflects an orthodox Christian viewpoint and others claim that it assumes a distinctly unorthodox position in portraying Adam and Eve as not morally culpable in their disobedience but merely tricked into disobedience through the wiles of the Devil s agent The study Genesis B and the Comedic Imperative examining these incompatible readings infers that the poem is essentially orthodox that it demonstrates sufficiently the moral culpability of Adam and Eve and that it departs from orthodoxy only insofar as it conveys a strong impression that Adam and Eve will undertake what amounts to Christian penance leading them eventually to Heaven The poem thereby attains the happy ending typical of early medieval Christian narrative Hence the titular Comedic Imperative The inference of orthodoxy follows as a high inevitable conclusion of the interpretation of several motifs the poem s culturally imbued martiality its allegorical bent and also what A N Doane noted as its tropological bent The argument depends heavily upon philological inquiry and on examination of prevailing beliefs and attitudes of contemporaneous Frankish society religious and civil leading to the reinterpretation of crucial passages Of these most notably is the passage in which Adam in refusing the Tempter s invitation to eat the fruit observes that the Tempter has given no tacit sign as evidence that he truly is God s emissary Other passages that have impeded critical perception of the poem s significance are also examined such as the notorious micel wundor clause lines 595-98 and the pseudo gnomic declaration swa hire eaforan sculon after lybban 623-35 In sum Genesis B sustains the orthodoxy otherwise of the Junius 11 manuscript Educating People of Faith John H. Van Engen, 2004 A much needed addition to the emerging literature on the formative power of religious practices Educating People of Faith creates a vivid portrait of the lived practices that shaped the faith of Jews and Christians in synagogues and churches from antiquity up to the seventeenth century This significant book is the work of Jewish Roman Catholic Orthodox and Protestant scholars who wished to discover and describe how Jews and Christians through history have been formed in religious ways of thinking and acting Rather than focusing solely on either intellectual or social life the authors all use the concept of practices as they attend to the embodied contextual character of religious formation Their studies of religious figures community life and traditional practices such as preaching sacraments and catechesis are colorful detailed and revealing The authors are also careful to cover the nature of religious education across all social levels from the textual formation of highly literate rabbis and monks engaged in Scripture study to the local formation of illiterate medieval Christians for whom the veneration of saints shrines street performances of religious dramas and public preaching by wandering preachers were profoundly formative Educating People of Faith will benefit scholars and teachers desiring a fuller perspective on how lived practices have historically formed people in religious faith It will also be useful to practical theologians and pastors who wish to make the resources of the past available to practitioners in the present Contributors John C Cavadini Anne L Clark Lawrence S Cunningham Joseph Goering Robert Goldenberg Stanley Samuel Harakas Robert M Kingdon Blake Leyerle Michael A Signer Philip M Soergel David C Steinmetz John Van Engen Lee Palmer Wandel Robert Louis Wilken Elliot R Wolfson
