Harmon,2005 Parallel hybrid electric propulsion systems would be beneficial for small unmanned aerial vehicles UAVs used for military homeland security and disaster monitoring missions involving intelligence surveillance or reconnaissance ISR The benefits include increased time on station and range than electric powered UAVs and stealth modes not available with gasoline powered UAVs A conceptual design of a small UAV with a parallel hybrid electric propulsion system an optimization routine for the energy use the application of a neural network to approximate the optimization results and simulation results are provided The two point conceptual design includes an internal combustion engine sized for cruise and an electric motor and lithium ion battery pack sized for endurance speed The flexible optimization routine allows relative importance to be assigned between the use of gasoline electricity and recharging The Cerebellar Model Arithmetic Computer CMAC neural network approximates the optimization results and is applied to the control of the parallel hybrid electric propulsion system The CMAC controller saves on the required memory compared to a large look up table by two orders of magnitude The energy use for the hybrid electric UAV with the CMAC controller during a one hour and a three hour ISR mission is 58% and 27% less respectively than for a gasoline powered UAV Forces of Nature and Cultural Responses

Challenges to European Welfare Systems Klaus Schubert,Paloma de Villota,Johanna Kuhlmann,2016-02-08 This book provides the first comprehensive analyses of the challenges all European welfare systems have been facing since 2007 combining in depth country based studies and comparative chapters It focuses on 1 the economic and financial crisis 2 demographic change and 3 the balance between avoiding risks and opening up opportunities in social policy The results show that European welfare systems tend to face the same challenges in different ways and that also their responses to those challenges differ considerably Although the EU also plays a part in shaping national welfare systems it becomes evident that European welfare systems are by no means converging in terms of social policy national diversity within Europe is still a major factor that will shape future developments in European welfare systems
