The Insider's View

Javid Chowdhury, 2012-09-15 In this illuminating memoir Javid Chowdhury shares his varied experiences over four decades in the IAS the years in training when he imbibed the service s ethos and values his initiation into the rural universe as the District Development Officer and the District Magistrate and further on to his handling of the infamous Bank Securities and Jain Hawala scams as Director of Enforcement and Union Revenue Secretary With a light pen Chowdhury describes the changing social profile and attitudes of entrants to the higher civil services the nepotism in many garbs that he encountered as Establishment Officer and the stranger than fiction tortuous investigations of crimes He also offers his nuanced reflections on the dubious legacy Gujarat acquired as a result of the communal carnage in 2002 Chowdhury further examines how policymaking within government came to be whittled away under the neo liberal theology with key scrutiny being left to external expert think tanks and ad hoc groups As a consequence he perceives that public accountability came to be inordinately diffused resulting in the roller coaster governance that we witness today Sharp and insightful replete with telling anecdotes and amusing sketches of icons colleagues and ministers The Insider s View is a compelling portrait of the author a self confessed welfare socialist besides being an X ray of the innards of the bureaucracy

Bangladeshi Novels in English Umme Salma,2024-11-08 Bangladeshi Novels in English Cultural Contact and Migrant Subjectivity is the first comprehensive study of Bangladeshi migration and diasporas through eight seminal Bangladeshi novels in English from the late twentieth and twenty first centuries Adib Khan s Seasonal Adjustments and Spiral Road Farhana H Rahman s The Eye of the Heart Monica Ali s Brick Lane Manzu Islam s Burrow Nashid Kamal s The Glass Bangles Zia H Rahman s In the Light of What We Know and Tahmima Anam s The Bones of Grace The book situates the study within the English language literary history and linguistic ethnography of Bangladesh while unveiling the complexities of Bangladeshi Muslim migration from men women and children s perspectives It challenges the stereotyping of Bengali Muslim migrants as a failure of immigration and multiculturalism and offers a fresh view on cultural contact and the formation of migrant subjectivity at the intersections of gender race religion class culture ethnicity history politics and personality inspired by the First World War American World War I literature has long been interpreted as an alienated outcry against modern warfare and government propaganda This prevailing reading ignores the US army s unprecedented attempt during World War I to assign men except notoriously African Americans to positions and ranks based on merit And it misses the fact that the culture granted masculinity only to combatants while the noncombatant majority of doughboys experienced a different alienation that of shame Drawing on military archives current research by social military historians and his own readings of thirteen major writers Keith Gandal seeks to put American literature written after the Great War in its proper context as a response to the shocks of war and meritocracy The supposedly antiwar texts of noncombatant Lost Generation authors Dos Passos Hemingway Fitzgerald Cummings and Faulkner addressed often in coded ways the noncombatant failure to measure up Gandal also examines combat soldier writers William March Thomas Boyd Laurence Stallings and Hervey Allen Their works are considered straight forward antiwar narratives but they are in addition shaped by experiences of meritocratic recognition especially meaningful for socially disadvantaged men Gandal furthermore contextualizes the sole World War I novel by an African American veteran Victor Daly revealing a complex experience of both army discrimination and empowerment among the French Finally Gandal explores three women writers Katherine Anne Porter Willa Cather and Ellen La Motte who saw the war create frontline opportunities for women while allowing them to be arbiters of masculinity at home Ultimately War Isn't the Only Hell shows how American World War I literature registered the profound ways in which new military practices and a foreign war unsettled traditional American hierarchies of class ethnicity gender and even race

familiar character in popular crime fiction from the foreign detective whose outsider status provides a unique perspective on a familiar or exotic location to the xenophobic portrayal of the criminal other Exploring popular crime fiction from across the world The Foreign in International Crime Writing examines these popular works as transcultural contact zones in which writers can tackle such issues as national identity immigration globalization and diaspora communities Offering readings of 20th and 21st century crime writing from Norway the UK India China Europe and Australasia the essays in this book open up new directions for scholarship on crime writing and transnational literatures Translingual Creative Writing Theory, Practice, and Pedagogy Jennifer Quist, 2025-05-15 In a challenge to monolingual Anglophone dominated creative writing workshops this book explores why and how students multilingual backgrounds and lack of fluency with the English language can emerge as assets rather than impediments to artistry and creativity Grounded in the Chinese tradition of Daoism as an ongoing discourse this exploration uses rigorous academic readings of the philosophical text the Zhuangzi as an analytical framework and takes a translingual approach to writing where translation and composition intersect inscribing one language upon another within a single text With concepts that resist expression such as inspiration uncertainty non knowing spontaneity unity forgetting the self and the perfection behind the imperfection of language Jennifer Quist demonstrates how Daoism's theories and metalanguage can re-imagine creative writing education whilst de-naturalizing the authority of English and Euro American literary traditions With analytical lenses derived from East Asia given context through translations of Chinese educators primary accounts of the history and theory of postsecondary creative writing education in 21st century China Quist develops a method for examining the practices of exemplary translingual writers from China Japan and their diasporas Featuring translingual writing prompts and practices for individual or classroom use by students at all levels of multilingualism Translingual Creative Writing Theory Practice and Pedagogy opens up the current workshop model and discloses the possibilities of linguistic transcendence for instructors and students With writing strategies based in cross cultural collaboration and balanced with de-Anglicization of creative writing pedagogy this book calls to rework the structures methods and metaphors of the workshop and presents ideas for more collaborative collective equitable diverse and inclusive programs

Horror Fiction in the Global South Ritwick Bhattacharjee, Saikat Ghosh, 2021-04-30 Horror Fiction in the Global South Cultures Narratives and Representations believes that the experiences of horror are not just individual but also simultaneously cultural Within this understanding literary productions become rather potent sites for the relation of such experiences both on the individual and the cultural front It's not coincidental then that either William Blatty's The Exorcist or Gabriel Garcia Marquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude become archetypes of the representations of the way horror affects individuals placed inside different cultures Such an affectation though is but a beginning of the ways in which the supernatural interacts with the human and gives rise to horror Considering that almost all aspects of what we now designate as the Global North and its concomitant the Global South political historical social economic cultural and so on function as different paradigms the experiences of horror and their telling in stories become functionally different as well. Added to this are the variations that one nation or culture of the east has from another. The present anthology of essays in such a scheme of things seeks to examine and demonstrate these cultural differences embedded in the impact that figures of horror and specters of the night have on the narrative imagination of storytellers from the Global South. If horror has an everyday presence in the phenomenal reality that Southern cultures subscribe to it demands alternative phenomenology. The anthology allows scholars and connoisseurs of Horror to explore theoretical possibilities that may help address precisely such a need.

Brushing History Against the Grain Qingxin Lin, 2005-01-01. This book explores some essential features of the Chinese new historical fiction (NHF) and its socio-cultural implications. It argues that the NHF constitutes an oppositional discourse that rejects both the grand narrative of linear revolutionary history which dominates Chinese official historiography and naïve confidence in Chinese modernity.

The Novels of Samuel Selvon Roydon Salick, 2001-04-30. The author of such works as A Brighter Sun 1952, The Lonely Londoners 1956 and The Plains of Caroni 1970. West Indian novelist Samuel Selvon is attracting growing amounts of scholarly attention. Nonetheless, criticism of his works has largely been imbalanced, with most scholarship focusing primarily on his language. This book corrects that imbalance by placing Selvon's novels within historical, sociological, and ideological contexts. A new interpretation of Selvon's achievement as a novelist, the volume looks for the first time at his works in terms of categories of novels: peasant, middle class, and immigrant. The book demonstrates that each category is different from the others and that novels within categories are similar. Thus, it provides a coherent vision of Selvon's canon. It illustrates as well the development of Selvon's philosophy of West Indians as peasant, bourgeois, and immigrant. In doing so, it explores the significance of ethnicity in his works and discusses Selvon's imaginative apotheosis of the Indo-Trinidadian peasant and the diminution of the Afro-Trinidadian immigrant. The volume also studies Selvon's fictional and rhetorical techniques and argues that his works range from Bildungsroman to picaresque to epic to satire.
