

Summarization

A summary is a shorter way to tell the events or details of a passage. Only the most important details are conveyed in a summary. A summary allows the reader to see what the passage is about. Look at the passages and summaries below for examples.

Hurricanes

A hurricane is a very powerful storm. It is a cyclonic storm, which means that it has a circular pattern within the hurricane. The name hurricane refers to storms that start over the Atlantic Ocean or eastern Pacific Ocean. Hurricanes are called different names in other oceans of the world. For example, they are called typhoons in the northwest Pacific. They are called cyclones in most of the rest of the world. They all have wind speeds that are mostly more than 75 miles per hour. The winds move in a circular pattern. The central point around which the storm moves is called the eye of the storm.

These storms usually develop in warm, tropical oceans. They take their energy from the seawater that evaporates. Hurricanes weaken as they move over land because they depend on the warm seas to continue to supply energy as the storm moves. Land also has a much rougher surface than the ocean. Land has much greater changes in elevation and surface. Hurricanes lose power when the winds meet the land's surface and cause friction.

Summary of Passage

Hurricanes are powerful storms that usually start in the Atlantic Ocean or Pacific Ocean. These storms rely on the ocean for their power and energy, and they slow down as they make landfall.

A Home After a Hurricane

James Peterson stood proudly with his head high. His blue eyes twinkled as he looked upon the masterpiece he had created all by himself for his 70-year-old neighbor, Mr. Tim Martin. Who would believe that a few months ago this place was nothing but a pile of debris? The hurricane that had struck New Orleans had claimed innumerable lives and caused immense destruction. James had lost his wife and little girl, Maria, to nature's fury, but his zest to live did not fade away. The money Mr. Martin received from the insurance company was insufficient to rebuild his home. So James decided to step in and construct the house on his own, using his experience as a builder.

Summary of Passage

A hurricane in New Orleans led to the destruction of life and property. Despite suffering a great personal loss, James Peterson rebuilt his elderly neighbor's house all by himself.
