Affect and Emotion in Tourism Dorina-Maria Buda, Jennie Germann Molz, 2023-03-31 Bringing affect and emotion to the forefront of tourism studies this book presents a new generation of scholars who consolidate emerging affective approaches and establish a route for scholarship that examines the roles of emotion and affect in tourism Attuning to affect and emotion this book steers the affective turn to encompass touring bodies and tourism places Engaging the concept of affect as a constitutive element of social life often leaves academics grasping for terminology to describe something that is by its very nature beyond words For this reason as evident in the four interconnected sections of this volume studying affect poses a significant and fruitful challenge to the status quo of social scientific method and analysis From African American emotional labour while travelling to visiting Banksy's Dismaland park to affective heritagescapes self love and travelling mittens and across socio spatial theories of emotions decolonial feminist theory and atmospheric politics this book demonstrates the epistemic and empirical richness of affective tourism Along with the contributors to this volume the editors make a case for thinking about emotions and affects through collective and individual practices as interrelated shaping tourism encounters in and with places That is to break it down as doing and as shared between bodies and places through the doing The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Tourism Geographies Gamification for Tourism Feifei Xu, Dimitrios Buhalis, 2021-05-10

This book examines the cutting edge concept of gamification in tourism It provides a theoretical foundation for tourism gamification and discusses the concepts of gaming and gamification and their application in the tourism and hospitality industry The chapters offer valuable insights by showcasing examples of best practice from different countries and addressing key issues of game mechanism and game design principles They focus on areas such as game design elements game player types and their motivation location based games augmented reality and virtual reality games The volume will be useful for students and researchers in tourism marketing digital tourism smart tourism and tourism futures It also serves as a helpful tool for tourism industry practitioners looking to increase customer engagement enhance loyalty and raise brand awareness Tourism in Pacific Islands Stephen Pratt, David Harrison, 2015-02-20

Pacific Island Countries have been shown to be especially vulnerable to such external influences as natural disasters political unrest and downturns in the global economy and their tourism industries have been notably affected In particular they typically have a narrow resource base and a fragile and often vulnerable natural environment While there is some research on islands and small states there is a dearth of information on the South Pacific and very little research is being undertaken in the region compared to other geographical regions in the world This volume brings together current work in Pacific Island tourism In this collection three main themes arise Images of the South Pacific Socio economic Impacts of Tourism and Pacific Island Countries and the Outside World The first focus is on the question of image namely stereotypes of a destination held by tourists and potential tourists the extent to which residents for their part really welcome visitors and the role tourism might play in changing pre established images The second theme is tourism's impacts notably the economic and socio cultural effects of international tourism's intrusion in the region which though often hotly debated have attracted relatively little empirical research The third focus is on the challenges of how PICs articulate with their external geo political and physical environment These involve existing relations with formal colonial centres geographical isolation the need for greater air access to the outside world and for more tourists and the continuing threat to several PICs of global warming which increased air travel will inevitably exacerbate This text will be of interest to tourism students researchers and academics in the fields of tourism development studies and cultural studies Protected Areas and Tourism in Southern Africa Lesego Senyana

Stone,Moren Tibabo Stone,Patricia Kefilwe Mogomotsi,Goemeone E.J. Mogomotsi,2022-03-23 This volume discusses the complex relationship between Protected Areas and tourism and their impact on community livelihoods in a range of countries in Southern Africa Protected areas and tourism have an enduring and symbiotic relationship While protected areas offer a desirable setting for tourism products tourism provides revenue that can contribute to conservation efforts This can bring benefits to local communities but it can also have a negative impact with the establishment of protected areas leading to the eviction of local communities from their original places of residence while also preventing them from accessing the natural resources they once enjoyed Taking a multi disciplinary approach this book addresses the opportunities and challenges faced by communities and other stakeholders as they endeavour to achieve their conservation goals and work towards improving community livelihoods Case studies from Botswana Malawi Namibia South Africa Tanzania Zambia and Zimbabwe address key issues such as human wildlife conflicts ecotourism wildlife based tourism landscape governance wildlife crop raiding and trophy hunting including the high profile case of Cecil the lion Chapters highlight both the achievements and positive outcomes of protected areas but also the challenges faced and their impact on how protected areas are viewed and also conservation priorities more generally The volume gives these issues affecting protected areas local communities managers and international conservation efforts centre stage in order inform policy and improve practice going forward This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of conservation natural resource management tourism sustainable development and African studies as well as professionals and policymakers involved in conservation policy

Adventure Tourism and Outdoor Activities Management Ian Jenkins,2019-02-04 An essential resource for those wishing to understand the key factors behind the operation of an adventure tourism company and how to be able to deliver a profitable as well as a sustainable product It discusses important factors such as how the use of technologies and the current importance of environmental impacts and climate change are areas that are key to adventure tourism firms To remain profitable companies need to address these issues along with the important elements of risk and safety Created from the author s experience in delivering adventure tourism courses over the last 20 years this long awaited book is aimed at both university courses on adventure tourism and outdoor recreation as well as those working within the industry

Economic Geography of Tourism João Romão,2025-05-13 This book provides an in depth exploration of the dynamic intersections between economic geography and tourism highlighting how spatial economic and social processes shape tourism development and how tourism in turn transforms economic spaces Combining theoretical insights with real world case studies it offers a comprehensive understanding of tourism s evolving role within economic geography The first part lays a strong theoretical foundation introducing key concepts such as the Tourism Area Life Cycle path dependence agglomeration economies smart specialization and regional resilience within the context of tourism research It explores spatial and temporal patterns in tourism development the growing influence of digitalization and smart tourism and the roles of innovation and competitiveness in shaping destination dynamics The second part shifts focus to tourism's broader economic and social implications It critically assesses urban tourism's links to gentrification circular economies and social conflicts while exploring strategies to address spatial enclaves and foster integrated tourism networks in low density and fragile regions Environmental challenges including the impact of tourism mobility on local communities and ecosystems are also examined The book concludes by addressing the tensions and future trajectories of tourism development questioning whether sustainable or regenerative tourism can thrive within market driven economies where decision making prioritizes individual preferences over collective well being It calls for a reassessment of contemporary policy and regulatory frameworks to align tourism with broader economic and environmental goals By bridging economic geography and tourism studies this book equips scholars policymakers and practitioners with analytical tools to rethink tourism development and advocate for strategies that are economically viable and effectively sustainable inclusive and resilient

The Routledge Handbook of Second Home Tourism and Mobilities C. Michael Hall, Dieter Müller, 2018-04-17 Second homes have become an increasingly important component of both tourism and housing studies They can directly and indirectly contribute a significant number of domestic and international visitors to destinations and may be part of longer term retirement lifestyle and amenity migration that can have significant economic and social effects on communities and destination development This volume offers an overview of different disciplinary and methodological approaches to second homes while simultaneously providing a broad geographical reach Divided into four parts exploring governance development community and mobile second homes the book provides a contemporary account of the major issues in an area of growing international interest This timely handbook covers a wide range of dimensions from planning to the role of second homes in development and the management of their impact The international and cross disciplinary nature of the contributions will be of interest to numerous academic fields in the social sciences as well as urban and regional planners

Competence-Based Innovation in Hospitality and Tourism Harald Pechlaner, Elisa Innerhofer, 2016-04-14 Dr Pechlaner and Dr Innerhofer the editors of Competence Based Innovation in Hospitality and Tourism argue that the industry operates within highly challenging and competitive environments Changing environmental and market conditions continually force hotel businesses and service providers to offer their customers new and modified products and services in order to remain competitive those which respect value perceptions of markets and sustainable stakeholder reactions This then raises the question of how innovations within this industry must be developed in order to achieve competitive differentiation The book demonstrates that the development and analysis of successful innovation strategies should integrate the resource based view and its advancements the competence based view as well as the dynamic capabilities approach and the relational view Resource based strategic management approaches view the firm as a bundle of resources and competences They point to the importance of firm specific resources and competences in explaining variations in competitive positions and performance differentiation between companies The challenge of hospitality and tourism is to develop resources and competences that drive innovations This book will serve to advance the status quo of tourism research literature by combining innovation theories with network theories and tourism and destination development by illustrating the development of cooperative competences and innovations in tourism and by showing in a tailored way how the challenge of the development of resources and competences that drive innovations in tourism can be managed

Critical Issues in Tourism Co-Creation Giang Thi Phi,Dianne Dredge,2021-07-05 Co creation is fast becoming a buzz word in tourism Traditional approaches to value creation in tourism suggest that operators and suppliers produce goods and services which are consumed by tourists The value produced is usually measured in economic terms Co creation challenges these assumptions arguing that tourism producers and consumers co create value together and that this value is more diverse than just economic value Technologies underpinning social media ratings and review tools and e commerce are facilitating the creation of diverse values and have been responsible for driving innovation in for example new business models such as the collaborative economy Social environmental emotional reputational and other kinds of value may also be produced and a wide range of stakeholders not just producers or consumers might also benefit from the value co creation process This edited volume seeks to go beyond the dominant business management marketing perspectives that focus on the co creation of market value and innovation to excavate complex and critical episodes of co creation in tourism By engaging authors from both the academy and beyond it explores the rich historical lineage of co creation and its contemporary practices The chapters in this book were originally published in Tourism Recreation Research
