Gentlemen of the Congress ...

We entered this war because violations of right had occurred which touched us to the quick and made the life of our own people impossible unless they were corrected, and the world secured once for all against their recurrence. What we demand in this war, therefore, is nothing peculiar to ourselves. It is that the world be made fit and safe to live in; and particularly that it be made safe for every peace-loving nation which, like our own, wishes to live its own life, determine its own institutions, be assured of justice and fair dealing by the other peoples of the world as against force and selfish aggression. The program of the world's peace, therefore, is our program; and that program, the only possible program, as we see it, is this:

Absolute freedom of navigation upon the seas

The removal, so far as possible, of all economic barriers and the establishment of an equality of trade conditions

Adequate guarantees given and taken that national armaments will be reduced to the lowest point consistent with domestic safety

A free, open-minded, and absolutely impartial adjustment of all colonial claims

—Woodrow Wilson

The speech excerpt above outlines part of President Wilson's plan for peace following World War I. What was Wilson's plan for peace called?

 - d. Queen Mary
3. World War I was the first war to use many new technologies. Which of the following was true of the use of chemical warfare?
- a. The use of chemical weapons was very effective during the war, causing most of the casualties.
 - b. The effects of chemical weapons were thought to be too gruesome to employ against enemy troops.
 - c. Neither side utilized chemical weapons as these had been banned in 1907, prior to the beginning of the war.
 - d. Weapons such as poison gas were developed as a reaction to the stalemate that occurred throughout most of the war.
4. Why was it difficult for the United States to stay neutral during the first part of World War I?
- a. American territory, including the Philippines, was invaded by the Central Powers.
 - b. The U.S. had a close relationship with Great Britain, and the war interfered with trade.
 - c. The U.S. wanted to stop the spread of communism occurring during World War I.

The Rise and Fall of Civic Education Michael Learn,2024-09-16 Social studies is a field in crisis The crisis stems from failure to establish the very foundation of social studies purpose in public education civic education Social studies advocates have never put forth a coherent method for teaching civic education because policymakers and the public have been unable to agree upon a general definition of civic education This issue has disrupted the field since the early days As educators sought to include civic education within public schools as a dedicated field social studies evolved into a blending of history social sciences and civic education Social studies evolution never resolved the differences between the three with each discipline striving to control the narrative Instead of creating a unified field the disciplines devalued social studies and thus any discipline associated with it The Rise and Fall of Civic Education The Battle for Social Studies in a Shifting Historical Landscape investigates the changing definitions and purposes ascribed to social studies in the United States through time This result is viewed through the rising tensions from culture wars as America s divisive politics fight to control the narrative of the disciplines within social studies Handbook of Law and Economics A. Mitchell Polinsky,Steven Shavell,2007-11-07 Law can be viewed as a body of rules and legal sanctions that channel behavior in socially desirable directions for example by encouraging individuals to take proper precautions to prevent accidents or by discouraging competitors from colluding to raise prices The incentives created by the legal system are thus a natural subject of study by economists Moreover given the importance of law to the welfare of societies the economic analysis of law merits prominent treatment as a subdiscipline of economics This two volume Handbook is intended to foster the study of the legal system by economists The two volumes form a comprehensive and accessible survey of the current state of the field Chapters prepared by leading specialists of the area Summarizes received results as well as new developments Resources in Education ,2001-10 The ETS Test Collection Catalog Educational Testing Service.
