web we will revisit this today and go on to see that if we use a special kind of thermochemical reaction called the standard enthalpy of formation we can calculate enthalpies of reactions without having to manipulate a series of individual thermochemical equations for each step web we can express the first law in many ways one of the more useful expressions is that the change in internal energy ΔE of a system in any process is equal to the heat q added to the system plus the work w done on the system by its surroundings $\Delta E = q + w$
