Spivey, 2002 There is an increasing challenge for chemical industry and research institutions to find cost efficient and environmentally sound methods of converting natural resources into fuels chemicals and energy Catalysts are essential to these processes and the Catalysis Specialist Periodical Report series serves to highlight major developments in this area This series provides systematic and detailed reviews of topics of interest to scientists and engineers in the catalysis field The coverage includes all major areas of heterogeneous and homogeneous catalysis and also specific applications of catalysis such as NO_x control kinetics and experimental techniques such as microcalorimetry Each chapter is compiled by recognised experts within their specialist fields and provides a summary of the current literature This series will be of interest to all those in academia and industry who need an up to date critical analysis and summary of catalysis research and applications Catalysis will be of interest to anyone working in academia and industry that needs an up to date critical analysis and summary of catalysis research and applications Specialist Periodical Reports provide systematic and detailed review coverage in major areas of chemical research Compiled by teams of leading experts in their specialist fields this series is designed to help the chemistry community keep current with the latest developments in their field Each volume in the series is published either annually or biennially and is a superb reference point for researchers www rsc org spr The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2005 Transport and accessibility to public services Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environmental Audit Committee, 2013-06-24 This report looks at progress on improving accessibility

since 2003 and ways of improving accessibility Problems with transport provision and the location of services can reinforce social exclusion by preventing people from accessing key local services and undermines government policies to tackle worklessness increase participation in education reduce crime and narrow health inequalities Insufficient progress has been made since the 2003 Social Exclusion Unit's Making the Connections report many findings of which are relevant today There is evidence that accessibility is worsening driven by tight budgets in central and local government Accessibility statistics show travel times to key services steadily increasing over time particularly for access to hospitals The Department for Transport needs to focus more closely on improving accessibility as well as on supporting the economy Existing transport funding could be better coordinated and directed to accessibility focused initiatives which will have a swifter impact on people's well being than large infrastructure projects The social value of transport and accessibility needs to be explicitly considered in policy making and in the planning system and should no longer be seen as a second order criterion The Committee believes it will take time for any improvements to make a noticeable difference Their recommendations focus on improving how government operates rather than funding Central government cannot abdicate its role in coordinating action across departmental silos and helping local authorities and service providers to share best practice Accessibility planning introduced by Making the Connections has had limited success and needs to be re-energised
