

SAMSUNG | LN Series LCD TV

Momentum seems to be on the side of the South Korean electronics giant as consumers find an ever greater selection of flat-screen TV's sporting the Samsung brand. The nearly two dozen models shown below range from 19- to 52-inches, satisfying size requirements for a TV in any room of the house.

Though these models are all HDTV sets, they vary in overall pixel count. Among other specs that differentiate them are the response rate (given in milliseconds—lower is better) and contrast (a higher ratio is better).

Connectivity is an increasingly important spec for you to pay attention to, especially if you're thinking of plugging in multiple devices like a cable or satellite DVR, Blu-ray player, games console, and a PC. The more inputs a TV offers, the less often you have to unplug a device in order to accommodate another one.

All of these TV's have at least one HDMI input, the de facto standard for digitally connecting A/V equipment moving forward. If you're attaching an upconverting DVD player or a Blu-ray player, you'll want to go in via HDMI. All the newest components including DVR's, cable boxes, media receivers, and audio receivers that pass through video signals include HDMI ports.

All of these models contain a PC (VGA) input, which makes it easy for you to attach a notebook computer and watch a DVD or, if the computer has a firewire connection, to enjoy Internet video like YouTube on the big screen. (Don't forget the VGA cable.) Some of the sets include a USB 2.0 input, which you'd sooner expect on a computer. By plugging in an external storage device (such as a thumb drive) filled with JPEG or MP3 files copied from a computer, you should be able to show photos and play music right on the TV—no home network necessary. Use the TV's remote to run the show.

So, take a look at these Samsung models for an overview about where LCD TV's are headed.
