Transnational Architecture and Urbanism Davide Ponzini, 2020-05-28 Transnational Architecture and Urbanism combines urban planning design policy and geography studies to offer place based and project oriented insight into relevant case studies of urban transformation in Europe North America Asia and the Middle East Since the 1990s increasingly multinational modes of design have arisen especially concerning prominent buildings and places Traditional planning and design disciplines have proven to have limited comprehension of and little grip on such transformations Public and scholarly discussions argue that these projects and transformations derive from socioeconomic political cultural trends or conditions of globalization The author suggests that general urban theories are relevant as background but of limited efficacy when dealing with such context bound projects and policies This book critically investigates emerging problematic issues such as the spectacularization of the urban environment the decontextualization of design practice and the global circulation of plans and projects The book portends new conceptualizations evidence based explanations and practical understanding for architects planners and policy makers to critically learn from practice to cope with these transnational issues and to put better planning in place

Explorer Travellers and Adventure Tourism Jennifer Laing, Warwick Frost, 2014-08-04 This book examines the nexus between exploring and tourism and argues that exploration travel based heavily on explorer narratives and the promises of personal challenges and change is a major trend in future tourism In particular it analyses how romanticised myths of explorers form a foundation for how modern day tourists view travel and themselves Its scope ranges from the Golden Age of imperial explorers in the 19th and early 20th centuries through the growth of adventure and extreme tourism to possible future trends including space travel The volume should appeal to researchers and students across a variety of disciplines including tourism studies sociology geography and history

Being and Becoming a Researcher in the Tourism, Travel and Hospitality Field Atila Yüksel, 2025-09-15 Despite the emphasis placed on disciplinary knowledge adaptability and research skills as pillars of academic rigor the process of researcher development particularly the transition from merely acquiring knowledge to embodying the role of a researcher has been largely overlooked contributing to high attrition rates among PhD students and early career researchers Possessing subject expertise and technical skills while necessary does not guarantee the intellectual emotional and existential growth required to navigate the complexities of academic life The process of becoming a researcher is not solely a matter of accumulating credentials but involves a deeper transformation one that prioritizes personal development and the expansion of consciousness This book explores both the theoretical and practical dimensions of researcher development offering a comprehensive framework that examines the transitions researchers undergo within both their internal and external environments It introduces the macro mezzo and micro information spheres of researcher development illustrating how individuals confront challenges navigate conflicts engage with contradictions and ultimately transform themselves through an evolving process of intellectual and personal growth By integrating these dimensions this book highlights the necessity of moving beyond mechanistic models of researcher training toward a more holistic approach that acknowledges the role of consciousness expansion in sustaining meaningful academic engagement Boosting a New West John C.
