Tourism Question Paper June 2014 Grad:

Tourist Behaviour Metin Kozak, Nazmi Kozak, 2016-11-18 Consumer research is often central to academic studies in many different fields and more recently tourism studies have empirically examined consumer research from various aspects. However, there is a need to provide information for tourism scholars on how to better understand aspects of tourist behaviour. Tourist Behaviour: An International Perspective provides a collection of topics from both theoretical and practical approaches to building and examining the theory of how consumers think and act within the context of tourism consumption. Divided into six sections, the book presents research within the themes of influence, motivation, choice, and consumption and experience. With contributions from authors in over 15 countries, the book presents an interdisciplinary approach of the latest research in tourist behaviour.

Tourism Development Metin Kozak, 2015-09-04 Tourism has attracted increasing interest from not only scholars with a background in the subject but also those studying in a number of other fields given the growing relevance of areas such as psychology, sociology, planning, and marketing. As such, this book brings together twelve chapters addressing various aspects of tourism development from sustainability and ecotourism to cases of developing alternative tourism products. The contributions are enriched through selected practical case studies from a wide range of countries including the United Arab Emirates, Slovenia, Vietnam, Malaysia, Mexico, South Africa, France, Turkey, and Argentina. The book's systematic structure and thorough content will be useful for people from academic and practical backgrounds seeking to update their current knowledge of tourism development.

Industries without Smokestacks Richard Newfarmer, John Page, Finn Tarp, 2018-10-25 By 2030 more than three quarters of the world's absolute poor are projected to live in Africa Accelerating economic growth is key to rising incomes on the continent and central to this challenge is establishing activities that are capable of employing large numbers of unskilled workers that can raise productivity through innovation and that can power growth through exports Such structural transformation is a key driver of growth and between 1950-1996 about half of the economic catch up by developing countries led by East Asia was due to rising productivity in manufacturing combined with growing agricultural output Africa however has lagged behind In 2014 the average share of manufacturing in GDP in sub-Saharan Africa hovered around 10 per cent unchanged from the 1970s leading some observers to be pessimistic about Africa's potential to catch the wave of sustained rapid growth and rising incomes Industries Without Smokestacks Industrialization in Africa Reconsidered challenges this view It argues that other activities sharing the characteristics of manufacturing including tourism ICT and other services as well as food processing and horticulture are beginning to play a role analogous to that played by manufacturing in East Asia This reflects not only changes in the global organization of industries since the early era of rapid East Asian growth but also advantages unique to Africa These industries without smokestacks offer new opportunities for Africa to grow in coming decades

Q&A Martin Manalansan, Alice Y. Hom, Kale Bantigue Fajardo, David L. Eng, 2021-07-16 This book is a follow up to Q A Queer in Asian America edited by David L Eng and Alice Y

Hom published in 1998 Commodification of Body Parts in the Global South Firouzeh Nahavandi, 2016-05-11 This book proposes the introduction of a development related perspective to scholarly critique of the human body's commodification Nahavandi contends that the commodification of human body parts reflects a modern form of such well known historical phenomena as slavery and colonization and can be considered a new and additional form of appropriation and extraction of resources from the Global South What are the commonalities between hair trade surrogacy kidney sale and attraction of brains The author argues that these all characterize a world where increasingly everything can be traded or is considered to be tradeable A world where similar to any other goods body parts have entered the global market either legally or illegally Through a series of multidisciplinary comparative studies the book explores how forms commodification of the human body are fuelled by issues of poverty in the Global South and inequality in transnational relations The American Passport in Turkey Özlem Altan-Olcay, Evren Balta, 2020-05-15 An ethnographic exploration of the meaning of national citizenship in the context of globalization The American Passport in Turkey explores the diverse meanings and values that people outside of the United States attribute to U S citizenship specifically those who possess or seek to obtain U S citizenship while residing in Turkey zlem Altan Olcay and Evren Balta interviewed more than one hundred individuals and families and through their narratives shed light on how U S citizenship is imagined experienced and practiced in a setting where everyday life is marked by numerous uncertainties and unequal opportunities When a Turkish mother wants to protect her daughter's modern secular upbringing through U S citizenship U S citizenship for her is a form of insurance for her daughter given Turkey's unknown political future When a Turkish American citizen describes how he can make a credible claim of national belonging because he returned to Turkey yet can also claim a cosmopolitan Western identity because of his U S citizenship he represents the popular identification of the West with the United States And when a natural born U S citizen describes with enthusiasm the upward mobility she has experienced since moving to Turkey she reveals how the status of U S citizenship and Americanness become valuable assets outside of the States Offering a corrective to citizenship studies where discussions of inequality are largely limited to domestic frames Altan Olcay and Balta argue that the relationship between inequality and citizenship regimes can only be fully understood if considered transnationally Additionally The American Passport in Turkey demonstrates that U S global power not only reveals itself in terms of foreign policy but also manifests in the active desires people have for U S citizenship even when they do not intend to live in the United States These citizens according to the authors create a new kind of empire with borders and citizen state relations that do not map onto recognizable political territories The Geography of Beer Mark W. Patterson, Nancy Hoalst-Pullen, 2023-12-01 This book focuses on the geography of beer in the contexts of policies perceptions and place Chapters examine topics such as government policies e.g. taxation legislation regulations how beer and beerscapes are presented and perceived e.g. marketing neolocalism roles of women use of media and the importance of place e.g. terroir of ingredients social and economic impacts of beer beer clubs Collectively the chapters underscore political cultural urban and human environmental geographies that underlie beer brewing and the beer industry Implausible Dream James H. Mittelman, 2020-08-04 Why the paradigm of the world class university is an implausible dream for most institutions of higher education Universities have become major actors on the global stage Yet as they strive to be world class institutions of higher education are shifting away from their core missions of cultivating democratic citizenship fostering critical thinking and safeguarding academic freedom In the contest to raise their national and global profiles universities are embracing a new form of utilitarianism one that favors market power over academic values In this book James Mittelman explains why the world class university is an implausible dream for most institutions and proposes viable alternatives that can help universities thrive in today's competitive global environment Mittelman traces how the scale reach and impact of higher education institutions expanded exponentially in the post World War II era and how the market led educational model became widespread Drawing on his own groundbreaking fieldwork he offers three case studies the United States which exemplifies market oriented educational globalization Finland representative of the strong public sphere and Uganda a postcolonial country with a historically public but now increasingly private university system Mittelman shows that the world class paradigm is untenable for all but a small group of wealthy research intensive universities primarily in the global North Nevertheless institutions without substantial material resources and in far different contexts continue to aspire to world class stature An urgent wake up call Implausible Dream argues that universities are repurposing at the peril of their high principles and recommends structural reforms that are more practical than the unrealistic worldwide measures of excellence prevalent today Federal Register, 2013-06 Holidays in the Danger Zone Debbie Lisle, 2016-07-15 Holidays in the Danger Zone exposes the mundane and everyday interactions between two seemingly opposed worlds warfare and tourism Debbie Lisle shows how a tourist sensibility shapes the behavior of soldiers in war especially the experiences of Western military forces in exotic settings This includes not only R R but also how battlefields become landscapes of leisure and tourism She further explores how a military sensibility shapes the development of tourism in the postwar context from Dark Tourism engaging with displays of conflict and atrocity to exhibitions of conflict in museums and at memorial sites as well as advertising film journals guidebooks blogs and photography Focused on how war and tourism reinforce prevailing modes of domination Holidays in the Danger Zone critically examines the long historical arc of the war tourism nexus from nineteenth century imperialism to World War I and World War II from the Cold War to globalization and the War on Terror
