

USF APPLICATION ESSAY SAMPLE

Prompt: What matters to you, and why?

I believe that there is only a short list of things that is supposed to really matter. They have been signed off on, supported by culture, and usually comes as a result of several years of evolution. Certain things such as family, friendship or perseverance are included among these things. Of course, there is nothing really wrong about them, but I feel that I belong to a generation that is raised by movies and television, with video games and comic books on the side.

What really matters to me is that all of the important things that I feel are important are the very same ones that are viewed as important by anybody else, regardless of the generation in which they belong to. I feel that personification is extremely important, a figure that I can look up to. For me, it is Steve Rogers.

Well, Steve Rogers is Captain America, and he is not thing but a character in a comic book. However, I was looking for personification, and I see it in him. I believe that friendship is something that is important and should be valued by anyone. Friends are an extension of anyone's family. Captain America commits to his friends as he fights against the Winter Solider. He throws his shield aside to avoid striking his friend, and more.

Also, perseverance is not really common in my generation. We just give up in times of adversity. However, everytime I look at Captain America, I refuse to back down. Before turning into a super soldier, he also did his best. All he did was standing for what's right, and that is what I would like to stand for as well.

I know that the personification of my understanding is a person who is not real. However, if his personality and character can influence me to become a better person, I would still continue to look at him the way I am viewing him now.
