Welcome to room 1011. My name is Ms. Griffin and I can't begin to tell you how excited I am to have you in my class this year. This year will be packed full of learning adventures that I hope will be both exciting and challenging. Our class motto is "Never settle for anything less than your best". I expect each and every one of you to try new things, ask for help, and never give up. These will be the key ingredients to your success in this class.

In my free time I enjoy any activity that allows me to be outside. I love to hike up in Ptarmigan North, camp along the rivers up North, and ride my bike 50 miles out to the beach. I also enjoy doing arts and crafts, reading, and spending time with friends and family.

I would like to know more about each of you! Please write a letter back to me telling me things that you are excited about for this year, what your favorite after-school activities are, your favorite studies or sports, etc. I would also like to know what you think you will need from me to either be or successful in fifth grade this year.

The Personal Librarian Richard Moniz, Jean Moats, 2014-08-21 The incredible shift in the provision of library services resulting from innovations such as online resources mobile technologies tablet computers and MOOCs and hybrid courses makes it more challenging than ever for academic librarians to connect students with the information they need Enter the Personal Librarian a flexible concept that focuses on customizing information literacy by establishing a one on one relationship between librarian and student from enrollment through graduation In this book the editors with decades of library instruction and academic library experience between them and their contributors Define personal librarianship and trace how it has developed within the broader context of the work that librarians do Demonstrate its radical potential to impact student learning retention and graduation rates Discuss how the concept relates to embedded librarianship and academic library liaisons and the role of faculty and staff Illustrate how personalization can be supported by academic support centers IT services Student Affairs and other college and university departments Use case studies from a variety of institutions to show how to develop and implement a Personal Librarian program By prioritizing relationships over merely providing access to information resources the Personal Librarian can improve services while ensuring that students have what they need to learn and grow This book shows how to make it happen

International Students Maureen Andrade, Norman Evans, 2009-08-16 International students are often taken for granted in higher education institutions in the United States Many college and university administrators are unaware of the initiatives of other nations to attract international students and of the need to support these students Higher education journals have not focused much attention on international students International Students Strengthening a Critical Resource argues that U S institutions of higher education must increase their awareness of international student issues Andrade reviews related research and highlights creative solutions and programming for the successful support of international students The book provides practical hands on broadly applicable solutions to addressing international student issues Additionally it serves as a practical guide for identifying and adopting best practices for serving international students

Applying the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning beyond the Individual Classroom Jennifer C. Friberg, Kathleen McKinney, 2019-08-29 A survey of exemplary SoTL research projects and the use of their results on a broader scale When the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning SoTL emerged it often concentrated on individual faculty practice in one classroom it is now however increasingly common to find work in SoTL focused more broadly SoTL studies may engage with a cluster of courses a program a particular population of students a pedagogical approach or a field all of which are represented in the essays collected here by authors from a diverse array of institutions and nations This volume features examples of SoTL research conducted in and applied to a variety of contexts and disciplines offering a theoretical framework for an expanded vision of SoTL one that moves beyond the individual classroom

Kids Learn! Getting Ready for 1st Grade Jodene Lynn Smith, 2022-04-01 BSCS Science T.R.A.C.S.: Investigating ecosystems, 1999 Four modules explore topics in physical science earth and space science life science and science and technology with hands on activities designed to engage students in the processes of scientific inquiry and technological design Modules within a developmental level may be taught in any sequence Closing the Opportunity Gap Vijay Pendakur, 2023-07-03 This book offers a novel and proven approach to the retention and success of underrepresented students It advocates a strategic approach through which an institution sets clear goals and metrics and integrates the identity support work of cultural diversity centers with skill building through cohort activities enabling students to successfully navigate college graduate on time and transition to the world of work Underlying the process is an intersectional and identity conscious rather than identity centered framework that addresses the complexity of students assets and needs as they encounter the unfamiliar terrain of college In the current landscape of higher education colleges and universities normally divide their efforts between departments and programs that explicitly work on developing students identities and separate departments or programs that work on retaining and graduating higher risk students This book contends that the gap between cultural diversity centers and institutional retention efforts is both a missed opportunity and one that perpetuates the opportunity gap between students of color and low income students and their peers Identity consciousness the central framework of this book differs from an identity centric approach where the identity itself is the focus of the intervention For example a Latino men s program can be developed as an identity centered initiative if the outcomes of the program are all tied to a deeper or more complex understanding of one s Latino ness and or masculinity Alternately this same program can be an identity conscious student success program if it is designed from the ground up with the students racial and gender identities in mind but the intended outcomes are tied to student success such as term to term credit completion yearly persistence engagement in high impact practices or timely graduation Following the introductory chapter focused on framing how we understand risk and success in the academy the remaining chapters present programmatic interventions that have been tested and found effective for students of color working class college students and first generation students Each chapter opens with a student story to frame the problem outlines the key research that informs the program and offers sufficient descriptive information for staff or faculty considering implementing a similar identity conscious intervention on their campus The chapters conclude with a discussion of assessment and suggested Action Items as starting points
