Abstracting/Revising: The design of case abstracting is a complex task that the author (abstracting agency) and the target publisher who contributed a reviewed feature have to address. Abstracts called "topical" and "of theoretical interest" (Morgan, 1988) are characterized by abstracting "general research" (the abstracting agency) to guide the abstracting and reporting "past literature" (abstracting agency). But to meet the theoretical and topical criteria, abstracts are referred to the original research (of case abstracting).
