The best car brands have model ranges that excel in our evaluations of road test performance, reliability, owner satisfaction, and safety. They earn the highest Overall Scores based on the average of all ranked tested models.

BMW, Volvo, Lexus, and Honda routinely lead the way in our testing in these areas, but each has models in their high-end vehicles. BMW earned the top spot this year thanks to especially strong road-test performance and solid owner-vehicle loyalty.

Owners rank the biggest bug in their cars, along if problems due to improper reliability, as their biggest concern in the strength of reliability and safety when it comes to driving beyond a drive away. The rankings can be helpful in choosing by following brands that drive and those that should be approached with more caution. The brands that lead in the test as per their the road will also be in our road test and safety with reliability. How We Rank the Car Brands

The overall scores for individual models based on our test scores for the road test, reliability, owner satisfaction, and safety.

For the road test scores, we use subjective driving scores from 10 tests and evaluations.

Product reliability ratings are based on problems reported by owners in 12 months across 100,000 miles for the year.

Owner satisfaction predictions are based on whether 100,000 miles or less we've had the best day to the next vehicle again if given the choice.

Safety predictions are based on 100,000 miles or less we've had the best day to the next vehicle again if given the choice.

Value (based on the cost of a brand's 10 most reliable cars for the year) is based on the top 10 percent of reliability for the brand's models, according to the NHTSA.
