The Region of Lost Names Fred Arroyo, 2008 Remember that the dream of one is the dream of everyone Ernest is searching for a place where he can live beyond his past His family has returned to Puerto Rico and Ernest remains in the States desiring only distance from his memories of childhood displacement and work his parents tumultuous relationship and his own love for Magdalene Magdalene too looks to move beyond her memories as she follows Ernest s family home seeking resolution to her mother s hurtful secrets her father s unknown identity and her love for Ernest As Ernest moves through the fields of Michigan as Magdalene traverses the jungles of Puerto Rico and the shores of the Caribbean they discover that their dreams and identities are linked within the framework of their families and their pasts Together Ernest and Magdalene must come to terms with the secrets and mistakes made by the previous generation the histories of disloyalty and abandonment of secrecy and sorrow Their struggles take place in a region of lost names where loves and memories are banished and found Fred Arroyo writes a story in two voices following Ernest and Magdalene by turns in prose that is elegant and lyrical His words evoke another world lush with the scent of salt spray the taste of mangoes and the rush of leaves alive with characters whose ardors and pathos are achingly real Arroyo explores the ebb and flow between past and present and themes that are enduring Ultimately Ernest and Magdalene must live with more than their memories they must rediscover the intimacies of the region of lost names

Taking Food Public Psyche Williams Forson, Carole Counihan, 2013-09-13 The field of food studies has been growing rapidly over the last thirty years and has exploded since the turn of the millennium Scholars from an array of disciplines have trained fresh theoretical and methodological approaches onto new dimensions of the human relationship to food This anthology capitalizes on this particular cultural moment to bring to the fore recent scholarship that focuses on innovative ways people are recasting food in public spaces to challenge hegemonic practices and meanings Organized into five interrelated sections on food production consumption performance Diasporas and activism articles aim to provide new perspectives on the changing meanings and uses of food in the twenty first century Contemporary Chicana Literature: (Re)Writing the Maternal Script Cristina Herrera, 2014-03-28 Despite the growing literary scholarship on Chicana writers few if any studies have exhaustively explored themes of motherhood maternity and mother daughter relationships in their novels When discussions of motherhood and mother daughter relationships do occur in literary scholarship they tend to mostly be a backdrop to a larger conversation on themes such as identity space and sexuality for example Mother daughter relationships have been ignored in much literary criticism but this book reveals that maternal relationships are crucial to the study of Chicana literature more precisely examining maternal relationships provides insight to Chicana writers rejection of intersecting power structures that otherwise silence Chicanas and women of color This book advances the field of Chicana literary scholarship through a discussion of Chicana writers efforts to re write the script of maternity outside of existing discourses that situate Chicana mothers as silent and passive and the subsequent mother daughter relationship as a source of tension and angst Chicana writers are actively engaged in the process of re writing motherhood that resists the image of the static disempowered Chicana mother on the other hand these same writers engage in broad representations of Chicana mother daughter relationships that are not merely a source of conflict but also a means in which both mothers and daughters may achieve subjectivity While some of the texts studied do present often conflicted relationships between mothers and their daughters the novels do not comfortably accept this script as the rule rather the writers included in this study are highly invested in re writing Chicana motherhood as a source of empowerment even as their works present strained maternal relationships Chicana writers have challenged the pervasiveness of the problematic virgin whore binary which has been the motif on which Chicana womanhood motherhood has been defined and they resist the construction of maternity on such narrow terms Many of the novels included in this study actively foreground a conscious resistance to the limiting binaries of motherhood symbolized in the virgin whore split The writers critically call for a rethinking of motherhood beyond this scope as a means to explore the empowering possibilities of maternal relationships This book is an important contribution to the fields of Chicana Latina and American literary scholarship
