It also integrates the industry's only real-time Grade Quality Sensor (GQS). The GQS tracks key metrics such as height, slope and standard deviation.

This feedback allows trainees to make the adjustments needed in order to advance their learning more quickly, and ultimately develop positive habits that will carry over to the real equipment.

A progressive learning program covering basic to advanced skills ranging from control familiarization and excavating, to working with stockpiles and truck loading.

Performance metrics and reporting that provides students with the feedback on their operating and earth moving skills.

Best-of-class loader and earthmoving simulation that ensures real skills development and behaves like the real machine.
