Reinventing (with) Theory in Rhetoric and Writing Studies Andrea Alden, Kendall Gerdes, Judy Holiday, Ryan Skinnell, 2019-10-21 Reinventing with Theory in Rhetoric and Writing Studies collects original scholarship that takes up and extends the practices of inventive theorizing that characterize Sharon Crowley's body of work. Including sixteen chapters by established and emerging scholars and an interview with Crowley, the book shows that doing theory is a contingent and continual rhetorical process that is indispensable for understanding situations and their potential significance and for discovering the available means of persuasion. For Crowley, theory is a basic building block of rhetoric produced by and within specific times and locations as a means of opening other ways of believing or acting. Doing theory in this sense is the practice of surveying the common sense of the community doxa and discovering the available means of persuasion. invention. The ultimate goal of doing theory is not to prescribe certain actions but to ascertain what options exist for rhetors to see the world differently, to discover new possibilities for thought and action, and thereby to effect change in the world. The scholarship collected in Reinventing with Theory in Rhetoric and Writing Studies takes Crowley's notion of theory as an invitation to develop new avenues for believing and acting. By reinventing the understanding of theory and its role in the field, this collection makes an important contribution to scholarship in rhetorical studies and writing studies. It will be valuable to scholars, teachers, and students interested in diverse theoretical directions in rhetoric and writing studies as well as in race, gender, and disability theories, religious rhetorics, digital rhetoric, and the history of rhetoric. Publication supported in part by the Texas Tech University Humanities Center.
