

HEAR vs. LISTEN

HEAR (no effort)

A sound/noise comes into your ear without you making an effort.

- You do not make conscious decision to hear.
- You physically experience the sense of sound.
- Sometimes the sound you hear is sudden or unexpected like a noise, an alarm or an explosion.

Examples:

- Did you hear that noise?
- I can't hear anything because of the loud music.
- I've heard that song before.

LISTEN (effort)

When you pay attention and try to listen to sounds

- You make decision to listen
- You deliberately pay attention to the sound.
- Listen + to + object(something)

Examples:

- Are you listening to me?
- I love listening to music.
- I tried to listen but I couldn't hear anything.

Compare: You can hear somebody talking but you need to listen to them to understand what they are saying.

Native Americans in the Susquehanna River Valley, Past and Present David J. Minderhout, 2013-05-23 This first volume in the new Stories of the Susquehanna Valley series describes the Native American presence in the Susquehanna River Valley a key crossroads of the old Eastern Woodlands between the Great Lakes and the Chesapeake Bay in northern Appalachia Combining archaeology history cultural anthropology and the study of contemporary

Native American issues contributors describe what is known about the Native Americans from their earliest known presence in the valley to the contact era with Europeans They also explore the subsequent consequences of that contact for Native peoples including the removal forced or voluntary of many from the valley in what became a chilling prototype for attempted genocide across the continent Euro American history asserted that there were no native people left in Pennsylvania the center of the Susquehanna watershed after the American Revolution But with revived Native American cultural consciousness in the late twentieth century Pennsylvanians of native ancestry began to take pride in and reclaim their heritage This book also tells their stories including efforts to revive Native cultures in the watershed and Native perspectives on its ecological restoration While focused on the Susquehanna River Valley this collection also discusses topics of national significance for Native Americans and those interested in their cultures

Music in Contemporary Philosophy Martin Scherzinger, 2016-01-08 This book examines the functional place of music in contemporary European philosophy of the 20th and 21st centuries The chapters explore the musical dimensions of lesser known figures as well as well known philosophical figures in relation to their lesser known musical dimensions Edmund Husserl Martin Heidegger Jean Fran ois Lyotard Jacques Ranci re and Alain Badiou for example are central figures in debates concerning phenomenology postmodernism and political philosophy Their musical writings however have been largely overlooked Of those discussed here whose musical writings have gained some currency Ernst Bloch Theodor W Adorno Jean Luc Nancy Edward Said and Slavoj i ek music mostly constitutes but a partial aspect of their overall philosophical output These chapters attempt to supplement the gap raising more prominently than hitherto the question concerning music in this philosophical milieu The collection represents some of the distinctive recent work of an emerging generation of American based music scholars tackling the relationship between philosophy and music in a qualitatively new way While this intellectual output cannot be easily summarized one detects certain features If what was once called New Musicology in the 1990s can be characterized by a turn to literary theory and philosophy treated as sources of mostly nonjudgmental inspiration we find here instead a new body of work that turns the tables on the relation between music and philosophy Instead of bringing philosophy to musicology this work critically analyzes how music inhabits philosophy itself and then assesses the ethical and political dimensions of these philosophical positions and their relation to lived history This book was originally published as a special issue of Contemporary Music Review
