

The following outline shows a basic format for most academic papers. No matter what length the paper needs to be, it should still follow the format of having an introduction, body, and conclusion. Read over what typically goes in each section of the paper. Use the back of this handout to outline information for your specific paper.

I. Introduction

The introduction should have some of the following elements, depending on the type of paper:

- Start with an attention grabber: a short story, example, statistic, or historical context that introduces the paper topic
- Give an overview of any issues involved with the subject
- Define of any key terminology need to understand the topic
- Quote or paraphrase sources revealing the controversial nature of the subject (argumentative papers only)
- Highlight background information on the topic needed to understand the direction of the paper
- Write an antithesis paragraph, presenting the primary opposing views (argumentative paper only)

The introduction must end with a THESIS statement (a 1 to 2 sentences in length):

- Tell what the overall paper will focus on
- Briefly outline the main points in the paper

II. Body

- Clearly present the main points of the paper as listed in the thesis
- Give strong examples, details, and explanations to support each main points
- If an argumentative paper, address any counterarguments and refute those arguments
- If a research paper, use strong evidence from sources—paraphrases, summaries, and quotations that support the main points

III. Conclusion

- Restate your thesis from the introduction in different words
- Briefly summarize each main point found in the body of the paper (avoid going over 2 sentences for each point)
- Give a statement of the consequences of not embracing the position (argumentative paper only)
- End with a strong clincher statement: an appropriate, meaningful final sentence that ties the whole point of the paper together (may refer back to the attention grabber)

Additional Tips

- Decide on the thesis and main points first
- You do not need to start writing your paper with the introduction
- Try writing the thesis and body first; then go back and figure out how to best introduce the body and conclude the paper
- Use transitions between main points and between examples within the main points
- Always keep your thesis in the forefront of your mind while writing; everything in your paper must point back to the thesis
- Use the back of this handout to make an outline of your paper

2009 MLA Updates and the 2010 APA Updates Reading specialist Kathleen McWhorter understands that students are often lacking in the skills they need to succeed in the first year writing course and need a text that doesn't assume they have mastered all the basics. Successful College Writing meets students where they are offering extensive instruction in careful and critical reading, practical advice on study and college survival skills, step by step strategies for writing and research, detailed coverage of the nine rhetorical patterns of development and 64 professional and student readings that provide strong rhetorical models as well as an easy to use handbook in the complete edition. McWhorter's unique visual approach to learning uses graphic organizers, revision flowcharts and other visual tools to help students analyze texts and write their own essays. Her unique attention to varieties of learning styles also helps empower students allowing them to identify their strengths and learning preferences.

The Bedford Guide for College Writers with Reader, Research Manual, and Handbook with 2009 MLA and 2010 APA Updates X. J. Kennedy, Dorothy M. Kennedy, Marcia F. Muth, 2010-04

When it was first published twenty years ago, The Bedford Guide for College Writers brought a lively and innovative new approach to the teaching of writing. Since that time, authors X. J. and Dorothy M. Kennedy have won praise for their friendly tone and their view apparent on every page of the text that writing is the usually surprising, often rewarding art of thinking while working with language. More recently, experienced teacher and writer Marcia F. Muth joined the author team adding more practical advice to help all students, even those underprepared for college work, become successful academic writers. While retaining the highly praised Kennedy touch, The Bedford Guide continues to evolve to meet classroom needs. The new edition does even more to build essential academic writing skills with expanded coverage of audience analysis, source based writing, argumentation and reasoning, and more.
