Teacher Professional Learning Shu-Shing Lee,Bee Leng Chua,Alexius Chia,Monica Woei Ling

Ong, Pamela Costes-Onishi, 2025-05-29 This book provides an insider's perspective of the Singapore education system that views teacher capacity building as a key lever for quality educational experiences. It describes experiences from policy conceptualisation to practice implementations of teacher learning. This book includes international perspectives in the form of expert commentaries and critique where comparisons are made between Singapore's experiences and those of other education systems. It also describes the complexities of teacher professional learning within and across three levels: policies, partnerships, and schools that shape policy to practice implementations of teacher professional learning from pre-service to in-service teachers. Together with the international scholars, this book shares the lessons learnt in Singapore to encourage policy makers, scholars, and schools to continue thinking about how teacher professional learning can be enhanced. Caution against the direct transfer of practices and describe how teacher capacity building lays the foundation for the education system to stay relevant, address challenges, and meet students' needs. First Aid for Teacher Burnout Jenny Grant

Emdin, 2017-05-12 Borrowing from the ideas of John Dewey, schools and classrooms are a reflection of the world; therefore, in order to make sense of the urban classroom, we need to make sense of the world. In this book, the editors have compiled a collection of nine critical essays or chapters, each examining a particular contemporary national and/or international event. The essays each undertake an explicit approach to naming oppression and addressing it in the context of urban schooling.

Each essay has a two fold purpose The first purpose is to help readers see the world unveiled through a more critical lens and to problematize long held beliefs about urban classrooms with regard to race gender social class equity and access Second as each author draws parallels between an event and urban classrooms a better understanding of the microstructures that exist in urban classrooms emerges At a time of serious political economic and social uncertainty we need a book like this one that showcases how the world can be seen as a critical site of curriculum and pedagogy A powerful intersectional analysis of the world word and urban sociopolitical context authors in this book push the boundaries of what educators know and do in urban schools and classrooms Grounded in frameworks of critical race theory and culturally relevant pedagogy authors center essential societal moments that must be viewed as the real curriculum These moments can equip students with tools to examine the what of the world as well as how to examine critique challenge and disrupt individual systemic and structural realities and practices that perpetuate and maintain a racist sexist homophobic and xenophobic status quo This is an important forward thinking innovative book a welcome addition to the field of urban education H Richard Milner IV Helen Faison Chair of Urban Education University of Pittsburgh

Emotions and Leadership in Organizations and Educational Institutes Osman Titrek,Anna Stavicka,Ana Campina,Gozde Sezen-Gultekin,Carlos Francisco De Sousa Reis,2023-11-28 Emotion management is an important source of social capital and synergy for organizations Managers have a great role in the creation of this synergy A manager who can cope with their emotions indirectly contributes to organizational effectiveness This situation is especially important in human oriented organizations providing services rather than goods such as educational institutions Leadership is a process of social influence which maximizes the efforts of others towards the achievement of a goal Leadership stems from social influence rather than authority or power In terms of system approach the input output process and feedback of educational organizations are always related to human behaviors Therefore organizations must address the nature of human beings in all of their managerial processes Although organizations in which people are at the foreground try to continue their functioning on a rational and formal basis throughout the managerial process they sometimes have to manage emotional and informal phenomena In this case there is a need for managers and school leaders who can shape the rationale in line with the requirements of human nature What is expected from this administrator is that they do not ignore human needs and emotions while providing the management of educational institutions For this reason these managers should be leaders rather than executives who only work in a formal framework of organization management Moreover principals and teachers should also be leaders in all educational processes Emotions are the main catalyst of positive organizational culture Leaders can create an effective organizational culture with the main source of positive emotions between employers Positive emotions also motivate employees for organizational purposes If a leader wishes to create and maintain an effective organizational culture it is essential to support positive behavior and emotional climate in their institutes and schools Leaders school managers and teachers therefore need to develop emotion management abilities Educational organizations need to shape their organizational culture climate and psychology to support their leaders in efficiently managing their employees emotions Up to now this topic has been usually addressed as the main catalyst and a sub dimension of emotional intelligence Moreover current evidence classifies social and empathy skills as other sub dimensions of emotional intelligence For this reason this collection of peer reviewed articles will draw attention to the contemporary term emotional management and contribute to educational fields by means of exploring the relationship between emotions and leadership

Interface between English Language Education Policies and Practice Eric Enongene Ekembe, Lauren Harvey, Eric Dwyer, 2023-02-13 This book is about the policy practice praxis in English language education and draws on research from a diverse range of under explored international settings to showcase the importance of contextual realities on how policy and practice interact The case studies covered in the volume come from five continents Africa Europe Asia and South and North America and cover 11 countries in total The authors cover a wide range of themes and identify a number of issues at the interface between policy and practice In some cases they also highlight local initiatives for navigating these issues providing contextually grounded guidance and experience which will be of use to teachers and teacher trainers in other settings This book will be of interest to policy makers EMI researchers ELT practitioners teacher trainers and trainees and the broader Applied Linguistics research community

International Beliefs and Practices That Characterize Teacher Effectiveness Grant, Leslie W., Stronge, James H., Xu, Xianxuan, 2021-06-18 Research surrounding teacher quality and teacher effectiveness has continued to grow and become even more prominent as teaching has become more professionalized globally and countries have invested more comprehensively in teacher education certification and professional development To better understand teacher effectiveness it is important to have a global viewpoint to truly understand how beliefs and practices vary in each country and can lead to different characterizations of what makes an effective teacher This includes both cross cultural commonalities and unique differences in conceptualization of teacher effectiveness and practices With this comprehensive international understanding of teacher effectiveness a better understanding of best practices teacher models philosophies and more will be developed International Beliefs and Practices That Characterize Teacher Effectiveness identifies shares and explores the predominant conceptual understandings of beliefs and practices that characterize effective teachers in different countries This book provides international and cross cultural perspectives on teacher effectiveness and examines the prominent philosophies of teaching and pedagogical practices that characterize teachers in selected countries Each chapter includes a background such as history and undergirding philosophy within each country effective teacher models prominent applications of teacher effectiveness practices and special or unique features of teaching in the specific countries mentioned This book is essential for practicing educators in various countries teacher educators faculty and students within schools and colleges researchers in international comparative studies organizations engaged in international education and administrators practitioners and academicians interested in how teacher effectiveness is characterized in different countries and regions across the world

Assessing Contexts of Learning Susanne Kuger,Eckhard Klieme,Nina Jude,David Kaplan,2016-12-05 This volume brings together educational effectiveness research and international large scale assessments demonstrating how the two fields can be applied to inspire and improve each other and providing readers direct links to instruments that cover a broad range of topics and have been shown to work in more than 70 countries The book s initial chapters introduce and summarize recent discussions and developments in the conceptualization implementation and evaluation of international large scale context assessments and provide an outlook on possible future developments Subsequently three thematic sections Student Background Outcomes of Education Beyond Achievement and Learning in Schools each present a series of chapters that provide the conceptual background for a wide range of important topics in education research policy and practice Each chapter defines a conceptual framework that relates recent findings in the educational effectiveness research literature to current issues in education policy and practice These frameworks were used to develop interesting and relevant indicators that may be used for meaningful reporting from international assessments other cross cultural research or national studies Using the example of one particular survey the Programme for International Student Assessment PISA 2015 this volume links all theoretical considerations to fully developed questionnaire material that was field trailed and evaluated in questionnaires for students and their parents as well as teachers and principals in their schools The primary purposes of this book are to inform readers about how education effectiveness research and international large scale assessments are already interacting to inform research and policymaking to identify areas where a closer collaboration of both fields or input from other areas could further improve this work to provide sound theoretical frameworks for future work in both fields and finally to relate these theoretical debates to currently available and evaluated material for future context assessments
