Learner-Centered Leadership Arnold B. Danzig, Kathryn M. Borman, Bruce A. Jones, William F. Wright, 2017-09-25 Many new approaches to school improvement are being proposed in the current climate of assessment and school accountability This book explores one of these approaches a new model of leadership training known as Learner Centered Leadership LCL It is built around the fundamental idea that learning and learning communities are natural processes that when properly harnessed can lead to the highest levels of professional engagement and problem solving Key features of this exciting new approach to school leadership include the following Broad based and Generative The book s narratives vividly illustrate the extraordinary ability of LCL to generate new approaches to leadership development For example encouraging and assisting school leaders to reflect on their own leadership attributes relative to the implementation of the school mission to ensure high teacher efficacy and student learning In this respect the volume contributes significantly to the field of school leadership and professional development by extending above and beyond a narrow focus on instructional leadership Practice Oriented By creating communities that encourage conversation and analysis the new data driven models of school improvement are more likely to be successfully implemented Without analytical discourse the process of interpreting school data and transforming it into practice would be largely lost Conceptually Appropriate The realization that everyone within a school students teachers administrators belongs to the same learning community minimizes status differences and encourages teamwork The LCL administrator is much less likely to be authoritarian and power oriented and much more likely to be transformative and student outcome focused This book is appropriate for master s level courses and certification seminars and for inservice workshops dealing with school leadership

Leadership Levers Diana Jones, 2021-11-03 There s an epidemic of leadership failure whether something as small as a meeting or as large as implementing enterprise wide change Leaders know that sinking feeling when a gap emerges between themselves and the groups they most need to engage with Leaders and business schools are looking in the wrong places for the cause What holds most leaders back as if their foot is always on the brake is their failure to engage and gain alignment This book shows the reasons why Leaders rarely recognise that Shaping group behavior is describable as a process which they can learn Instead they unconsciously fall into relationship patterns influenced by early family experiences Informal relationship patterns have a dramatic effect on results which is why birds in flight manage to alter course without bumping into each other Leadership and collaboration are primarily a matter of principles and process and not personality and content alone If leaders master the process they achieve consistent results This book reveals the leadership levers to release the power of relationships for exceptional participation alignment and results in organizations It enables leaders to mine the brilliance that often lies dormant and untapped within their organizations Readers will have the principles and tools to go beyond the agenda truly engage with those around them and release untapped capacities within their organizations These qualities and skills will inspire associates and employees
