

WHAT IS TONE?

Definition

- Tone is used in order to convey how the speaker or author is feeling and to put across their opinion and thought on the situation which is being discussed. Tone is a way to show the attitude of the writer or the speaker.
- When used as a literary device, tone can have a variety of themes, it could be formal, serious, humorous, sad and many others and this is an excellent way for the writer to convey their thoughts on the situation, or indeed, the thoughts of the character which they are writing.

Examples Of Tone In Speech

- In a conversation between a mother and daughter, the mother says "I'm sorry but we cannot afford to go on vacation this year." the daughter replies "What a surprise!" - The tone of the daughter is sarcastic in this situation.
- Two friends are chatting and one says to the other "I have brought you a gift." the second friend replies "Wow, that's so lovely" - The tone of the second friend is cheerful and grateful.
- "My son has spent his whole life not taking things seriously, and now he expects to pass this exam. He has no hope at all." - The tone of this statement is pessimistic.
- "It is a pleasure to meet your Mrs Smith, in what way can I help you?" - The tone of this question is formal.

Examples Of Tone In Literature

- In Rudyard Kipling's essay, writes the words "I am at the Yellowstone National Park today, and I wish that I was dead." - In this example, the author is displaying his opinion of the national park, readers may not agree with it but he sets the tone of the rest of the essay as being disdainful and miserable.
- Ernest Hemingway sets a peaceful tone in his piece A clean, well-lit place. We can see this when we read this short excerpt from the piece - "It was late and all the people had left the cafe apart from an elderly man who was sitting in the shadows made by the leaves in the electric light. During the day the street was filled with dust but when it was night, the dew had settled and the elderly man liked to sit here until late because he could not hear and at night when all was quiet, he noticed a difference."
