Dreams of Fiery Stars Catherine Rainwater,1999 In Dreams of Fiery Stars Catherine Rainwater examines the novels of writers such as Momaday Linda Hogan Leslie Marmon Silko Gerald Vizenor and Louise Erdrich and contends that the very act of writing narrative imposes constraints upon these authors that are foreign to Native American tradition Their works amount to a break with and a transformation of American Indian storytelling

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Cyrus R. K. Patell,Deborah Lindsay Williams,2024-03-05 The Oxford History of the Novel in English is a twelve volume series presenting a comprehensive global and up to date history of English language prose fiction written by a large international team of scholars The series is concerned with novels as a whole not just the literary novel and each volume includes chapters on the processes of production distribution and reception and on popular fiction and the fictional sub genres as well as outlining the work of major novelists movements and tendencies This book offers an account of US fiction during a period demarcated by two traumatic moments the eve of the entry of the United States into the Second World War and the onset of the Covid 19 pandemic The aftermath of the Second World War was arguably the high point of US nationalism but in the years that followed US writers would increasingly explore the possibility that US democracy was a failure both at home and abroad For so many of the writers whose work this volume explores the idea of nation became suspect as did the idea of national literature as the foundation for US writing Looking at post 1940s writing the literary historian might well chart a movement within literary cultures away from nationalism and toward what we would call cosmopolitanism a perspective that fosters conversations between the occupants of different cultural spaces and that regards difference as an opportunity to be embraced rather than a problem to be solved During this period the novel has had significant competition for the US public s attention from other forms of narrative and media film television comic books videogames and the internet and the various forms of social media that it spawned If however the novel becomes a residual form during this period it is by no means archaic The novel has been reinvigorated over the past eighty years by its encounters with both emergent forms such as film television comic books and digital media and the emergent voices typically associated with multiculturalism in the United States

The Colonial Construction of Indian Country Eric Cheyfitz, 2023-12-19 A guide to the colonization and projected decolonization of Native America In The Colonial Construction of Indian Country Eric Cheyfitz mounts a pointed historical critique of colonialism through careful analysis of the dialogue between Native American literatures and federal Indian law Illuminating how these literatures indict colonial practices he argues that if the decolonization of Indian country is to be achieved then federal Indian law must be erased and replaced with independent Native nation sovereignty because subordinate sovereignty the historical regime is not sovereignty at all At the same time Cheyfitz argues that Native American literatures specifically U S American Indian literatures cannot be fully understood without a knowledge of U S federal Indian law the matrix of colonialism in Indian country Providing intersectional readings of a range of literary and legal texts he discusses such authors as Louise Erdrich Frances Washburn James Welch Gerald Vizenor Simon Ortiz Leslie Marmon Silko and others Cheyfitz examines how American Indian writers and critics have responded to the impact of law on Native life revealing recent trends in Native writing that build upon traditional modes of storytelling and governance With a focus on resistance to the colonial regime of federal Indian law The Colonial Construction of Indian Country not only elucidates how Native American literatures and federal Indian law are each crucial to any reading of the other it also guides readers to better understand the genocidal assault on Indigenous peoples by Western structures of literacy politics and law

Emergent U.S. Literatures Cyrus Patell, 2014-11-07 Emergent U S Literatures will be an essential text for understanding the historical forces at work in the ways in which we define American literature today An ambitious piece of scholarship Cyrus Patell draws from an impressive knowledge of major works in emergent literatures showing us not only how these literatures have developed in conversation with each other but also pushing us to think about the cosmopolitan nature of creative expression Min Hyoung Song author of The Children of 1965 On Writing and Not Writing as an Asian American

Grave Concerns, Trickster Turns Christopher A. LaLonde, 2002 Who am I What am I Where do I belong These grave concerns take a lifetime for most people to answer They become even trickier for American Indians who all too often face literal and figurative burial by those in power Such concerns permeate the works of Louis Owens a mixedblood writer of Choctaw Cherokee Irish descent In this first book length examination of Owens s writings Chris LaLonde focuses on five critically acclaimed novels The Sharpest Sight Bone Game Wolfsong Nightland and Dark River According to LaLonde Owens works his stories like a trickster turning ideas back against themselves and playing with contradictory possibilities The conflicting Native and Western perspectives of time history humor and authority dramatize how such classes can threaten to undermine any sense of home and identity for Indians In the process Owens underscores the sham of the ethnic identities

foisted upon American Indians the Noble Savage the Silent Indian the Vanishing Native and the Indian as Tragic Victim
