Critical Modesty in Contemporary Fiction Thom Dancer, 2021 From climate catastrophe to pandemics and economic crises the problems facing humanity are dizzyingly complex and increasingly planetary in scale Critical Modesty in Contemporary Fiction argues for contemporary fiction s capacity to help those who may feel despair at the enormity of such problems not as one might think through the ambitious search for grand solutions but rather by inculcating a temperament of modesty This new temperament of critical modesty locates the fight for freedom and human dignity within the limited and compromised conditions in which we find ourselves Through readings of Ian McEwan Zadie Smith J M Coetzee and David Mitchell this volume shows how contemporary works of literature model modesty as a critical temperament Exploring modest forms of entangled human agency that represent an alternative to the novel of the large scale that have been most closely associated with the Anthropocene it makes the surprising yet compelling case that precisely by adopting a modest stance the novel actually has the potential to play a more important socio cultural role In doing so the book offers an engaging response to the debate over critical and surface readings bringing novels into the conversation and arguing for a fictional mode that is both critical and modest reminding us how much we are already engaged with the world implicated and compromised before we start developing theories writing stories or acting within it
