Salman Rushdie in the Cultural Marketplace Ana Cristina Mendes, 2016-03-23 Taking up the roles that Salman Rushdie himself has assumed as a cultural broker gatekeeper and mediator in various spheres of public production Ana Cristina Mendes situates his work in terms of the contemporary production circulation and consumption of postcolonial texts within the workings of the cultural industries Mendes pays particular attention to Rushdie as a public performer across various creative platforms not only as a novelist and short story writer but also as a public intellectual reviewer and film critic Mendes argues that how a postcolonial author becomes personally and professionally enmeshed in the dealings of the cultural industries is of particular relevance at a time when the market is strictly regulated by a few multinational corporations She contends that marginality should not be construed exclusively as a basis for understanding Rushdie's work since a critical grounding in marginality will predictably involve a reproduction of the traditional postcolonial binaries of oppressor oppressed and colonizer colonized that the writer subverts Rather she seeks to expand existing interpretations of Rushdie's work itineraries and frameworks in order to take into account the actual conditions of postcolonial cultural production and circulation within a marketplace that is global in both orientation and effects

Mapping out the Rushdie Republic Prasanta Bhattacharyya, Tapan Kumar Ghosh, 2016-12-14 Mapping out the Rushdie Republic differs from existing studies on the work of Salman Rushdie by dint of its seriousness of intent and profundity of content Every major work of the writer is paid due attention as separate articles are devoted to every aspect of his literary persona As such the contributions raise pertinent issues and questions that invite the perceptive reader to enter into a meaningful dialogue with the views of a range of formidable academics of national and international repute A long interview with Timothy Brennan a notable Rushdie critic offers further insights making this a book that designedly stops short of being merely encomiastic about Rushdie's achievement as an author The significant act of mapping out the Rushdie republic makes this a must read for those who find the Rushdie phenomenon an interesting one as part of ongoing debates and discussions

The 1980s: A Decade of Contemporary British Fiction Philip Tew, Emily Horton, Leigh Wilson, 2014-02-27 How did social cultural and political events in Britain during the 1980s shape contemporary British fiction Setting the fiction squarely within the context of Conservative politics and questions about culture and national identity this volume reveals how the decade associated with Thatcherism frames the work of Kazuo Ishiguro Martin Amis and Graham Swift of Scottish novelists and new diasporic writers How and why 1980s fiction is a response to particular psychological social and economic pressures is explored in detail Drawing on the rise of individualism and the birth of neo liberalism contributors reflect on the tense relations between 1980s politics and realism and between elegy and satire Noting the creation of a heritage industry during the decade the rise of the historical novel is also considered against broader cultural changes Viewed from the perspective of more recent theorisations of crisis following both 9 11 and the 21st century financial crash this study makes sense of why and how writers of the 1980s constructed fictions in response to this decade s own set of fundamental crises The Wiley Blackwell and Modernity in Muslim Writing Rehana Ahmed, Peter Morey, Amina Yaqin, 2012 Fiction by writers of Muslim background forms one of the most diverse vibrant and high profile corpora of work being produced today from the trail blazing writing of Salman Rushdie and Hanif Kureishi which challenged political and racial orthodoxies in the 1980s to that of a new generation including Mohsin Hamid Nadeem Aslam and Kamila Shamsie This collection reflects the variety of those fictions Experts in English South Asian and postcolonial literatures address the nature of Muslim identity its response to political realignments since the 1980s its tensions between religious and secular models of citizenship and its manifestation of these tensions as conflict between generations In considering the perceptions of Muslims contributors also explore the roles of immigration class gender and national identity as well as the impact of 9 11 This volume includes essays on contemporary fiction by writers of Muslim origin and non Muslims writing about Muslims It aims to push beyond the habitual populist framing of Muslims as strangers or interlopers whose ways and beliefs are at odds with those of modernity exposing the hide bound conservative assumptions that underpin such perspectives While returning to themes that are of particular significance to diasporic Muslim cultures such as secularism modernity multiculturalism and citizenship the essays reveal that Muslim writing grapples with the same big questions as serve to exercise all writers and intellectuals at the present time How does one reconcile the impulses of the individual with the requirements of community How can one belong in the modern world What is the role of art in making sense of chaotic contemporary experience Writing India Anew Krishna Sen, Rituparna Roy, 2025-10-01 This groundbreaking study assesses the genre of Indian English fiction in the first decade of the twenty first century Some of the most prominent scholars in the field including Rimi B Chatterjee Bill Ashcroft and Shirley Chew explore a range of themes that extend from the re mapping of mythology and history to reassessing the globalised India of today Together they contend that the current body of work of Indian English literature is so varied and vibrant that it can no longer be dismissed as derivative or dispossessed Instead they regard this new corpus of writing to be a major aspect of contemporary Anglophone literature Ultimately the contributors contend that the current body of work in Indian English fiction is so varied and vibrant that it can no longer be dismissed as derivative or dispossessed or even as mere postcolonial writing back or compensatory national allegory Diasporas of the Mind Bryan Cheyette, 2014-02-28 In this fascinating and erudite book Bryan Cheyette throws new light on a wide range of modern and contemporary writers some at the heart of the canon others more marginal to explore the power and limitations of the diasporic imagination after the Second World War Moving from early responses to the death camps and decolonization through internationally prominent literature after the Second World War the book culminates in fresh engagements with contemporary Jewish post ethnic and postcolonial writers div DIVdiv Cheyette regards many of the twentieth and twenty first century luminaries he examines among them Hannah Arendt Anita Desai Frantz Fanon Albert Memmi Primo Levi Caryl Phillips Philip Roth Salman Rushdie Edward Said Zadie Smith and Muriel Spark as critical exemplars of the diasporic imagination Against the discrete disciplinary thinking of the academy he elaborates and argues for a new comparative approach across Jewish and postcolonial histories and literatures And in so doing Cheyette illuminates the ways in which histories and cultures can be imagined across national and communal boundaries DIV From Solidarity to Schisms ,2009-01-01 From Solidarity to Schisms is the first collection to expand discussions of the effects the events of 11 September 2001 and their aftermath have had on fiction and film beyond an exclusively US based focus The essays brought together here go beyond critiquing the US to examine the cultural shifts taking place in fiction and cinema from places such as Britain France Germany Australia Pakistan Canada Israel and Iran From these many sites of production the works discussed in this collection illustrate more precisely how 9 11 was global without succumbing to neat categorizations such as us vs them East vs West Christianity vs Islam and so on From Solidarity to Schisms is an important supplement to the US centered cultural and critical production addressing 9 11 providing researchers and teachers alike with resources and contexts that will allow them to broaden their own examinations of novels and films by Americans and about the US It also provides a valuable resource for students and scholars of contemporary global history and international politics who are interested in approaching 9 11 terrorism and counter terrorism and related topics from a cultural standpoint The Historical Novel Jerome De Groot,2009-09-10 The historical novel is an enduringly popular genre that raises crucial questions about key literary concepts fact and fiction identity history reading and writing In this comprehensive focused guide Jerome de Groot offers an accessible introduction to the genre and critical debates that surround it including the development of the historical novel from early eighteenth century works through to postmodern and contemporary historical fiction different genres such as sensational or low fiction crime novels literary works counterfactual writing and related issues of audience value and authenticity the many functions of historical fiction particularly the challenges it poses to accepted histories and postmodern questioning of grand narratives the relationship of the historical novel to the wider cultural sphere with reference to historical theory the internet television and film key theoretical concepts such as the authentic fallacy postcolonialism Marxism queer and feminist reading Drawing on a wide range of examples from across the centuries and around the globe The Historical Novel is essential reading for students exploring the interface of history and fiction Islamophobia and the Novel Peter Morey,2018-08-14 In an era of rampant Islamophobia what do literary representations of Muslims and anti Muslim bigotry tell us about changing concepts of cultural difference In Islamophobia and the Novel Peter Morey analyzes how recent works of fiction have framed and responded to the rise of anti Muslim prejudice showing how their portrayals of Muslims both reflect and refute the ideological preoccupations of media and politicians in the post 9 11 West Islamophobia and the Novel discusses novels embodying a range of positions from the avowedly secular to the religious and from texts that appear to underwrite Western assumptions of cultural superiority to those that recognize and critique neoimperial impulses Morey offers nuanced readings of works by John Updike Ian McEwan Hanif Kureishi Monica Ali Mohsin Hamid John le Carr Khaled Hosseini Azar Nafisi and other writers emphasizing the demands of the literary marketplace for representations of Muslims He explores how depictions of Muslim experience have challenged liberal assumptions regarding the novel's potential for empathy and its ability to encompass a variety of voices Morey argues for a greater degree of critical self-consciousness in our understanding of writing by and about Muslims in contrast to both exclusionary nationalism and the fetishization of difference Contemporary literature's capacity to unveil the conflicted nature of anti-Muslim bigotry expands our range of resources to combat Islamophobia This in turn might contribute to Islamophobia's eventual dismantling
