The Birds World Nicolae Sfetcu,2021-10-25 Birds are among the most extensively studied of all animal groups Hundreds of academic journals and thousands of scientists are devoted to bird research while amateur enthusiasts called birdwatchers or more commonly birders probably number in the millions Birds are categorised as a biological class Aves The earliest known species of this class is Archaeopteryx lithographica from the Late Jurassic period According to the most recent consensus Aves and a sister group the order Crocodylia together form a group of unnamed rank the Archosauria Phylogenetically Aves is usually defined as all descendants of the most recent common ancestor of modern birds or of a specific modern bird species like Passer domesticus and Archaeopteryx Modern phylogenies place birds in the dinosaur clade Theropoda Modern birds are divided into two superorders the Paleognathae mostly flightless birds like ostriches and the wildly diverse Neognathae containing all other birds The Shorebird Guide Michael O'Brien,Richard Crossley,Kevin Karlson,2006 When many birders go out looking at shorebirds they see a distant mud flat full of grayish brown birds in various shapes and sizes and have no idea where to begin the identification process When advanced birders look at that same flock of shorebirds they can identify the vast majority of birds with a quick binocular scan Experts use the simplest most easily observed characteristics size structure behavior and general color patterns almost subconsciously and can identify most birds even before looking carefully at plumage details Now birders of all levels can learn how to identify these wildly popular birds quickly and with much less effort This guide provides more than 870 stunning color photographs sequenced to give a general impression of a species first and progressing to a more detailed image of the bird throughout its life cycle Captions list characteristics in order of importance reflecting the thought process that experts use to identify birds
