Sinking the Beast: The RAF 1944 Lancaster Raids Against Tirpitz Jan Forsgren,2017-01-24 Sink the Tirpitz 1942-44 Angus Konstam,2018-10-18 When Germany invaded the Soviet Union in the summer of 1941 Stalin requested help from the Western Allies The result was the Arctic Convoys the opening of a sea route from Britain to Northern Russia used to supply the Soviets with vitally needed war materials This route passed close to German occupied Norway and so in January 1942 the newly completed battleship Tirpitz sister of the Bismarck was sent there to form the core of the naval force stationed in Northern Norway to intercept these convoys For more than two years Tirpitz remained a latent threat to the Allies and despite fuel shortages her occasional sorties posed a grave threat to Allied shipping So the sinking of the battleship became a major priority for the British The fjords where she lurked were strongly defended rendering naval attack virtually impossible So unless she could be caught at sea she had to be destroyed by other means In the spring of 1942 the Royal Air Force launched three heavy bombing raids on the battleship s anchorage but no hits were scored The following autumn she was damaged during a midget submarine attack and moved to a more secure anchorage A lack of bombers caused a hiatus in these air attacks but they were resumed in 1944 by which time the Fleet Air Arm had the resources to join in the air campaign The most sustained of these naval air operations was Operation Goodwood but like the others its results were disappointing It was now clear that only heavy bombers dropping especially heavy bombs could do the job So that autumn the RAF launched the first of three large scale attacks using Lancaster bombers armed with enormous Tallboy bombs In the first codenamed Operation Parvane the Tirpitz was badly damaged In the third air attack carried out in November 1944 the battleship was hit three times and she capsized and sank taking most of her crew down with her Her passing broke German naval power in Arctic waters which in turn allowed the Allies to divert their naval resources to the Pacific where the ocean wide campaign was reaching its climax The air campaign against the Tirpitz was one of vital strategic importance and while low key compared to air operations over mainland Europe it was one where a single bomb could dramatically influence the course of the war These British airmen faced tough opposition from the weather terrain ground defences the Luftwaffe and from the well armed battleship herself which while rendering it tough for them make this a dramatic story of air power s triumph against the odds Technically the 1944 air campaign was a test bed for a new generation of super bomb The Tallboy designed by Barnes Wallis of Dambuster fame was a five ton seismic bomb capable of destroying the battleship when other more conventional ordnance had failed These ground breaking bombs were the forerunners of the devastating bunker busting weaponry of the post war era Tirpitz Daniel Knowles,2018-04-17 Day Fighter Aces of the Luftwaffe Jeremy Dixon,2023-12-30 The second of two comprehensive directories of all the Luftwaffe s single seater fighter pilots who were awarded the Knight s Cross during the Second World War The German fighter pilots of the Second World War are among the undoubted heroes of the conflict their reputation for flying skill single minded determination and solitary courage hasn't diminished or been clouded by controversy over the years. Their daring and commitment often displayed when towards the end of the war they were fighting against the odds matches that of any of the other air forces they fought against. This detailed highly illustrated reference book which covers the exploits of the most famous and successful individuals among them shows just how effective and undaunted they were. All the Luftwaffe day fighter pilots who flew single seater aircraft and won the Knight's Cross during the war are featured. The entries give information about their early lives and pre war careers and record how many aircraft they shot down, the type of aircraft involved and where and when the combat took place. Included are accounts of particular actions which led to the award of the Knight's Cross and the fate of these remarkable pilots later in the war and in the post war world is described too. Jeremy Dixon's book will be fascinating reading and reference for anyone who is interested in the aviation history of the Second World War.

From The Battle of Britain to Bombing Hitler's Berchtesgaden James Bazin, 2023-06-30. It was Tuesday 17 October 1939 Britain had been at war with Germany for more than a month and for only the second time the Luftwaffe had dared to enter British airspace and at last James Jim Bazin's chance had come. After joining the RAF in 1935 Jim was an experienced pilot when war broke out and he was eager to test his skills against the enemy. This first combat was the start of a career which saw Wing Commander Bazin as he was to become being posted to France with 607 County of Durham Squadron. He fought there until the last days of the Battle of France. In the course of the campaign Bazin had battled his way to becoming an ace. He was also shot down behind enemy lines but successfully evaded capture to return to his squadron and resume the fight. There was no respite for Bazin as he was once again in the air defending Britain's skies in his trusty Hurricane as the Luftwaffe sort to destroy Fighter Command in the summer of 1940. With ten kills to his name Jim Bazin was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross in October that year. But merely driving off the Luftwaffe was not enough for him. He was posted to Inverness where he served as a Controller in 14 Group's Operations Room which gave him a taste for offensive operations. In time Bazin volunteered to move to Bomber Command. He duly undertook a conversion course in 1943 eventually joining 49 Squadron as a Lancaster pilot to take the war to the very heart of the enemy. After commanding 49 Squadron including taking part in Bomber Command's support of the D Day landings, Bazin was promoted to Wing Commander leading 9 Squadron on many attacks on special targets such as U boat pens, viaducts, refineries and most notably operating with the famous Dambusters against Hitler's great battleship Tirpitz. Unrelenting in his efforts against the enemy, Jim Bazin was involved in operations against targets in Poland and Germany right up until the end of the war. This culminated in the last major RAF operation of the Second World War when on 25 April 1945 Bomber Command attacked the Berghof, Hitler's Alpine retreat and other targets in Berchtesgaden. Jim Bazin was awarded the DSO in September 1945, rightful recognition for a man who had done so much to bring about the defeat of the enemy.

deadlier to its crews than the enemy Nevertheless the Luftwaffe ordered the Me 210 into production Operational trials began in late 1941 but it was eventually acknowledged that the aircraft had to be redesigned in order to be accepted into Luftwaffe service The whole Me 210 debacle proved a huge scandal A redesigned variant the Me 410 began to reach Luftwaffe units in mid 1943 Even if the Me 210 and Me 410 were similar in appearance the latter had to be redesigned to avoid the extremely poor reputation of the Me 210 The Me 410 proved a quite successful aeroplane being used as a heavy fighter and for reconnaissance duties Its closest Allied equivalent was the British DH 98 Mosquito More than 1 500 Me 210 410s were built in Germany and Hungary with only two Me 410s surviving today
