Siteless 1001 Building Forms:

SITELESS Francois Blanciak, 2008-02-29 An attempt to free architecture from site and program constraints and to counter the profusion of ever bigger architecture books with ever smaller content Some may call it the first manifesto of the twenty first century for it lays down a new way to think about architecture Others may think of it as the last architectural treatise for it provides a discursive container for ideas that would otherwise be lost Whatever genre it belongs to SITELESS is a new kind of architecture book that seems to have come out of nowhere Its author a young French architect practicing in Tokyo admits he didn't do this out of reverence toward architecture but rather out of a profound boredom with the discipline as a sort of compulsive reaction What would happen if architects liberated their minds from the constraints of site program and budget he asks The result is a book that is saturated with forms and as free of words as any architecture book the MIT Press has ever published The 1001 building forms in SITELESS include structural parasites chain link towers ball bearing floors corrugated corners exponential balconies radial facades crawling frames forensic housing and other architectural ideas that may require construction techniques not yet developed and a relation to gravity not yet achieved SITELESS presents an open ended compendium of visual ideas for the architectural imagination to draw from The forms drawn freehand to avoid software specific shapes but from a constant viewing angle are presented twelve to a page with no scale order or end to the series After setting down 1001 forms in siteless conditions and embryonic stages Blanciak takes one of the forms and performs a scale test showing what happens when one of these fantastic ideas is subjected to the actual constraints of a site in central Tokyo The book ends by illustrating the potential of these shapes to morph into actual building proportions Siteless François Blanciak, 2008 Re-Imagining the Avant-Garde Matthew Butcher, Luke C.

Pearson, 2019-07-10 The 1960s and 1970s avant garde has been likened to an architectural Big Bang such was the intensity of energy and ambition in which it exploded into the postwar world Marked out by architectural projects that redefined the discipline it remains just as influential today References to the likes of Archizoom Peter Eisenman John Hejduk and Superstudio abound Highly diverse the avant garde cannot be defined as a single strand or tendency It was divergent geographically reaching from Europe to North America and Japan and in its political formal and cultural preoccupations It was unified though as a critical and experimental force critiquing contemporary society against the backdrop of extreme social and political upheaval the Paris riots of May 1968 the anti Vietnam war movement in America and the looming ecological crisis Re-imagining the Avant garde outlines how in contemporary architectural practice avant garde projects retain their power as historical precedents as barometers of a particular design ethos as critiques of society and instigators of new formal techniques Given the far reaching impact of the subsequent digital revolution which has since reshaped every aspect of practice the issue asks why this historical period continues to retain its undeniable grip on current architecture Contributors Pablo Bronstein and Sam Jacob Sarah Deyong Stylianos Giamarelos Damjan Jovanovic Andrew Kovacs Perry

A Language of Contemporary Architecture Rafael Luna, Dongwoo Yim, 2023-05-05 As a way to understand the contemporary project in architecture this book provides an index of ideas theories projects and definitions that string into a methodology for evaluating the contemporary language of architecture described as contemporism through a review of topology form and typology system and elements The contemporary project has been trying to answer the postmodern question of how to move beyond modernism through a thread of architectural styles that tried to respond to deficiencies from the modern promise and contextual changes Yet the question remains should this ongoing struggle to move beyond modernism be a stylistic battle Has the present architectural practice ever left the modernist tendencies and is there a structure for a contemporary language in architecture This book presents a collection of highly illustrated projects that have worked under these parameters to break away from modernism in order to present a holistic integration of topology and typology as a language for contemporism The index is illustrated with individual spreads which can be read sequentially or independently and encourages the reader to make their own connections It also includes interviews and contributions from Toyo Ito Anthony Vidler Ben van Berkel Christian Kerez and Greg Lynn This book is essential reading for undergraduate and graduate students in architecture The Scope of Architectural Theory Jon Lang, 2025-06-03 This book comprehensively lays out the knowledge base required for architectural practice and education at a time when artificial intelligence AI algorithms are shaping the way architects think Architects with a desire to retain their creative role in the design of buildings and urban spaces must understand and articulate the theoretical bases of their work and what it can achieve This book provides a clear structure and outline of both the functional and procedural theoretical base for architects to employ in their work It offers an intellectually rigorous basis that allows architects to understand the evolution of architecture through history as well as the advocacies of individual architects It provides them with the scope of architectural theory necessary for designing for the future The book can be a valuable reference for researchers and professionals interested in architectural theory and allied fields

The Architect's Dream Sean Pickersgill, 2023-09-29 Sean Pickersgill demonstrates that the goal of creating meaningful architecture can take a variety of critical and philosophical paths The importance of architecture as an expression of broad complex social drivers is complemented by the equally popular idea that architecture as an intellectual pursuit retains its own autonomy as a self referential culture This book uniquely places the emphasis for innovation in architecture within the domain of critical thinking generally and a specific understanding of the semantics of built form The book draws on a broad range of subject areas from film to philosophy to anthropology to mathematics and economics to show that the path to meaningful creative practice is always based in an understanding of the principal drivers for change and meaning in society It is not a simple recipe book or workshop manual for others to reproduce It requires the engaged reader to employ their own creative abilities to find what potential lies in each of the propositions and it will encourage the scholastic architect to continue to mine the rich veins of intellectual culture to demonstrate the latent purposiveness inherent in all meaningful architecture

Suasive Iterations David M. Rieder, 2016-12-01 The PC era is giving way to a new form of popular computing in which smart globally connected objects and environments are the new computational ground This new ground is the exigence for a new approach to digital rhetoric and writing In Suasive Iterations Rieder calls for an approach that is grounded in a new canon of digital style He explains that the growing range of microcomponents and processes can be botanized for the new canon Drawing on Claude Levi Strauss theory of bricolage he describes his stylistic approach as a transductive science of the concrete the goal of which is to engage audiences suavisly by allegorizing aspects of the physical world to which the new era of microcomponents give us access Suasive Iterations will appeal to scholars and practitioners faculty and graduate students in digital rhetoric writing digital humanities and the digital arts One of its innovative features is the inclusion of original open source programming projects for each of the four main chapters The projects are written in for Arduino Processing and the Kinect sensor They are designed to highlight issues in the scholarly tradition

Junk Jet n°3 Asli Serbest, 2010 Interpreting Site Genevieve Baudoin, 2015-04-17 Interpreting Site explains the basic methods architects use to translate what you perceive to represent the complex conditions that physically and mentally construe a site helping to shape the ultimate design Within each of the four themes defining site experiencing site spatializing site and systematizing site theoretical conceptual and analytic methods and representational tools are introduced to give you a foundation to develop your own approach to the conditions of a site Author Genevieve S Baudoin examines longstanding representation methods in relation to emerging and experimental methods offering an idiosyncratic and provocative look at different approaches Four highly illustrated full colour case studies of key contemporary projects in Spain the United States the United Kingdom and Norway demonstrate how architects have used conditions discovered on a site in their final design

Recomposing Ecopoetics Lynn Keller, 2018-01-16 In the first book devoted exclusively to the ecopoetics of the twenty first century Lynn Keller examines poetry of what she terms the self conscious Anthropocene a period in which there is widespread awareness of the scale and severity of human effects on the planet Recomposing Ecopoetics analyzes work written since the year 2000 by thirteen North American poets including Evelyn Reilly Juliana Spahr Ed Roberson and Jena Osman all of whom push the bounds of literary convention as they seek forms and language adequate to complex environmental problems Drawing as often on linguistic experimentalism as on traditional literary resources these poets respond to environments transformed by people and take nature to be a far more inclusive and culturally imbricated category than conventional nature poetry does This interdisciplinary study not only brings cutting edge work in ecocriticism to bear on a diverse archive of contemporary environmental poetry it also offers the environmental humanities new ways to understand the cultural and affective dimensions of the Anthropocene

Distributed Intelligence In Design Tuba Kocatürk, Benachir Medjdoub, 2011-01-14 The book contains the papers developed from the presentations at the Distributed Intelligence in Design Symposium held in Salford in May 2009 In this context Distributed Intelligence refers to the interdisciplinary knowledge of a range of different individuals in different organisations with different backgrounds and experience and the symposium discussed the media technologies and behaviours required to support their successful collaboration The book focusses on how parametric and generative design media can be coupled with and managed alongside Building Information Modelling tools and systems how the cross disciplinary knowledge is distributed and coordinated across different software participants and organizations the characteristics of the evolving creative and collaborative practices how built environment education should be adapted to this digitally networked practice and highly distributed intelligence in design The chapters address a range of innovative developments methodologies applications research work and theoretical arguments to present current experience and expectations as collaborative practice becomes critical in the design of future built environments

After Zero Neyran Turan, Stephen Ramos, 2009 Design disciplines are challenged by the condition of the zero point Zero context cities from scratch and zero carbon developments all force designers to tackle fundamental questions regarding the strategic relevance and impact of a design intervention As much as the zero point presents na ve innocence and embodies contradictory notions it also creates a ground for doubt self critique and rejuvenation for architecture and urbanism As cities are built before they can even be imagined what do these projects suggest for the design disciplines Rather than reductive aestheticization or total rejection what are possible critical ways to reflect on this condition Beyond a possible focus on the ambitions of these projects it is important to see them as symptomatic of a much broader condition within contemporary architecture and urbanism Along with the challenges inherent in the zero point perhaps more meaningful are the provocations of the after the zero condition which clearly marks the need to seriously explore fundamental inquiries regarding form and context physical social political After Zero is an opportunity to imagine alternative futures and a revitalized project for the city Ecopoetics Angela Hume, Gillian Osborne, 2018-03-15 Ecopoetics Essays in the Field makes a formidable intervention into the emerging field of ecopoetics The volume s essays model new and provocative methods for reading twentieth and twenty first century ecological poetry and poetics drawing on the insights of ecocriticism contemporary philosophy gender and sexuality studies black studies Native studies critical race theory and disability studies among others As a volume this book makes the compelling argument that ecopoetics should be read as coextensive with post 1945 poetry and poetics rather than as a subgenre or movement within it It is essential reading for any student or scholar working on contemporary literature or in the environmental humanities today Back cover The Publishers Weekly ,2008
