Naydan, 2016-05-23 Rhetorics of Religion in American Fiction considers the way in which contemporary American authors address the subject of belief in the post 9 11 Age of Terror Naydan suggests that after 9 11 fiction by Mohsin Hamid Laila Halaby Philip Roth Don DeLillo John Updike and Barbara Kingsolver dramatizes and works to resolve impasses that exist between believers of different kinds at the extremes These impasses emerge out of the religious paradox that shapes America as simultaneously theocratic and secular and they exist for instance between liberals and fundamentalists between liberals and certain evangelicals between fundamentalists and artists and between fundamentalists of different varieties Ultimately Naydan argues that these authors function as literary theologians of sorts and forge a relevant space beyond or between extremes They fashion faith or lack thereof as hybridized and hence as a negotiation among secularism atheism faith fundamentalism and fanaticism In so doing they invite their readers into contemplations of religious difference and new ways of memorializing 9 11

Peripheralizing DeLillo Thomas Travers,2023-07-27 Peripheralizing DeLillo tracks the historical arc of Don DeLillo's poetics as it recomposes itself across the genres of short fiction romance the historical novel and the philosophical novel of time Drawing on theories that capital rather than the bourgeoisie is the displaced subject of the novel Thomas Travers investigates DeLillo's representation of fully commodified social worlds and re-evaluates Marxist accounts of the novel and its philosophy of history Deploying an innovative re-periodisation Travers considers the evolution of DeLillo's aesthetic forms as they register and encode one of the crises of contemporary historicity the secular dynamics through which a society organised around waged work tends towards conditions of under and unemployment Situating DeLillo within global histories of uneven and combined development Travers explores how DeLillo's treatment of capital and labour affect and narration reconfigures debates around realism and modernism The DeLillo that emerges from this study is no longer an exemplary postmodern writer but a composer of capitalist epics a novelist drawn to peripheral zones of accumulation zones of social death whose surplus populations his fiction strives to re-historicise if not re-dialecticise as subjects of history

Philipp Wolf,2022-05-30 This book offers the first systematic study of death in the later novels of Don DeLillo It focuses on Underworld to The Silence along with his 1984 novel White Noise in which the fear of death dominates the protagonists most hauntingly The study covers eight novels which mark the development of one of the most philosophical and prestigious novelists writing in English Death in its close relation to time temporality and transience has been an ongoing subject or motif in Don DeLillo's oeuvre His later work is shot through with the cultural and sociopsychological symptoms and responses death elicits His reflection on dying revolves around defensive mechanisms and destruction fantasies immortalism and cryonics covert and overt surrogates consumerism and media and the mortification of the body

His characters give themselves to mourning and are afflicted with psychosis depression and the looming of emptiness Yet writing about death also means facing the ambiguity and failing representability of death The book considers DeLillo s use of language in which temporality and something like death may become manifest It deals with the transfiguration of time and death into art with apocalypse as a central and recurring subject and as a kind of antithesis epiphany The study eventually proposes some reflections on the meaning of death in an age fully contingent on media and technology and dominated by financial capitalism and consumerism Despite all the distractions death remains a sinister presence which has beset the minds not only of DeLillo s protagonists
