Creative Advertising Concept and Copy provides a solid grounding in advertising education away from the traditional business and marketing literature. Notwithstanding the need for independent inspiration and originality, the author guides readers through the entire process of campaign planning, moving from strategy to creative idea to finished piece, whilst employing concepts and principles relevant to design thinking. Taking into account ethics and regulations, the use of text and images and storytelling across radio, TV and video platforms, readers will come to a holistic understanding of what advertising can and cannot do and how to achieve the best results. Written for students involved in creative advertising as an area of academic research and professional practice, this book will also be of interest to early career advertising professionals seeking a fresh perspective on their work.

Advertising George Felton, 2006. How to find the ideas that make for great ads and deliver them in fresh, memorable, persuasive ways. Pioneering African-American Women in the Advertising Business Judy Davis, 2016-12-08. Much has been written about the men and women who shaped the field of advertising, some of whom became legends in the industry. However, the contributions of African American women to the advertising business have largely been omitted from these accounts. Yet evidence reveals some trailblazing African American women who launched their careers during the 1960s Mad Men era and went on to achieve prominent careers. This unique book chronicles the nature and significance of these women's accomplishments, examines the opportunities and challenges they experienced, and explores how they coped with the extensive inequities common in the advertising profession. Using a biographical narrative approach, this book examines the careers of these important African American women who not only achieved managerial positions in major mainstream advertising agencies but also established successful agencies bearing their own names. Based on their words and memories, this study reveals experiences which are intriguing, triumphant, bittersweet, and sometimes tragic. These women's stories comprise a vital part of the historical narrative on women and African Americans in advertising.
