Rhetorics of Belonging Anna Bernard,2013 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library The crisis in Israel Palestine has long been the world s most visible military conflict Yet the region s cultural and intellectual life remains all but unknown to most foreign observers which means that literary texts that make it into circulation abroad tend to be received as historical documents rather than aesthetic artefacts Rhetorics of Belonging examines the diverse ways in which Palestinian and Israeli world writers have responded to the expectation that they will narrate the nation invigorating critical debates about the political and artistic value of national narration as a reading and writing practice It considers writers whose work is rarely discussed together offering new readings of the work of Edward Said Amos Oz Mourid Barghouti Orly Castel Bloom Sahar Khalifeh and Anton Shammas This book helps to restore the category of the nation to contemporary literary criticism by attending to a context where the idea of the nation is so central a part of everyday experience that writers cannot not address it and readers cannot help but read for it It also points a way toward a relational literary history of Israel Palestine one that would situate Palestinian and Israeli writing in the context of a history of antagonistic interaction The book s findings are relevant not only for scholars working in postcolonial studies and Israel Palestine studies but for anyone interested in the difficult and unpredictable intersections of literature and politics

Living in Time Albert Gelpi, 1998-02-19 The Oxford poets of the 1930s W H Auden C Day Lewis Stephen Spender and Louis MacNeice represented the first concerted British challenge to the domination of twentieth century poetry by the innovations of American modernists such as Ezra Pound and William Carlos Williams Known for their radical politics and aesthetic conservatism the Auden Generation has come to loom large in our map of twentieth century literary history Yet Auden s voluble domination of the group in its brief period of association and Auden s sway with critics ever since has made it difficult to hear the others on their own terms and in their own distinct voices Here rendered in eloquent prose by one of our most distinguished critics of modern poetry is the first full length study of the poetry of C Day Lewis a book that introduces the reader to a profoundly revealing and beautifully wrought record of his poetry against the cultural and literary ferment of this century Albert Gelpi explores in three expansive sections the major periods of the poet s development beginning with the emergence of Day Lewis in the thirties as the most radical of the Oxford poets An artist who sought through poetry a way of living in time without traditional religious assurances Day Lewis went further than his friends in seeking to forge a revolutionary poetry out of his commitment to Marxism When Stalinism led to his resignation from the Communist Party Day Lewis in the forties went on to shape a rich fiercely perceptive poetry out of the convergence of the wartime crisis with the explosive events of his own inner life intensified by the erotics of a decade long affair Returning to his Irish roots and meditating on the persistent tension between agnosticism and faith in the work of his third and final period Day Lewis wrote some of the most moving poems in the language about mortality and dying the limits and possibilities of human striving Through the traumatic changes of his life C Day Lewis came increasingly to depend on the intricacies of poetry itself as a way of living in time His abiding belief in the psychological and moral functions of poetry impelled him in his critical writings and in his own poetic practice to delineate a modern poetics that presents an effective alternative to the elitist experimentation associated with Modernism This vital revisionist reading of Day Lewis demonstrates that much of his best work was written after the thirties and establishes him as one of the most significant and accomplished British poets of the modern period ITIL® V3 - A Pocket Guide Jan van Bon,2020-06-11 Note This pocket book is available in several languages English German French This Pocket Guide is a concise summary of ITIL V 3 A quick portable reference tool to this leading standard within the Service Management community What are the key service management processes What is the lifecycle approach Salomania and the Representation of Race and Gender in Modern Erotic Dance Cecily Devereux,2023-04-25 Salomania and the Representation of Race and Gender in Modern Erotic Dance situates the 1908 dance craze which The New York Times called Salomania as a crucial event and a turning point in the history of the modern business of erotic dance Framing Salomania with reference to imperial ideologies of motherhood and race it works toward better understanding the increasing value of the display of the undressed female body in the 19th and early 20th centuries This study turns critical attention to cultures of maternity in the late 19th century primarily with reference to the ways in which women are defined in relation to their genitals as patriarchal property and space and are valued according to reproduction as their primary labour Erotic dance as it takes shape in the modern representation of Salome insists both that the mother is and is not visible in the body of the dancer a contradiction this study characterizes as reproductive fetishism Looking at a range of media the study traces the modern figure of Salome through visual art writing early psychoanalysis and dance from hootchie kootch to the performances dancer Maud Allan called mimeo dramatic to mid 20th century North American films such as Billy Wilder s Sunset Boulevard and Charles Lamont s Salome Where She Danced to the 21st century HBO series The Sopranos American Machinist ,1914 The Intonation of Interrogation in Palermo Italian Martine Grice,2017-10-10 In Palermo Italian yes no interrogatives if the last syllable of a phrase is unstressed the nuclear pitch contour is rising falling whereas if it is stressed the contour is simply rising Such context dependent variation cannot be adequately accounted for within a British style approach to intonation By contrast autosegmental pitch accent studies of intonation where nuclear pitch configurations are expressed in terms of H igh and L ow tones are shown to offer the flexibility necessary to do so These tones are incorporated into a hierarchical structure in which they have either an accentual or a primarily delimitative function In the former case tones are part of a Pitch Accent which has an association to a syllable in the latter case tones are associated to nodes representing higher prosodic constituents either the intermediate phrase or the intonation phrase and are realised as boundary tones Building on current analyses a model is proposed in which tones in the Pitch Accent are also hierarchically structured involving two levels the Supertone and Tone This extended Pitch Accent structure not only explains apparent inconsistencies in phonetic alignment in Palermo Italian but also accounts for equivalent consistency in alignment in English. In addition, it allows leading tones in Palermo Italian to be treated in a qualitatively different way from leading tones in English. The Palermo Italian interrogative marker consists of a L H Pitch Accent. There is no paradigmatic contrast on the intermediate phrase boundary tone; it is always L, which means that its function is purely delimitative. This tone is only fully realised when a postaccentual syllable is available to carry it; technically, it requires a secondary attachment to a syllable. The absence of the falling part of the L HL L configuration in phrases with no postaccentual syllable is thus explained.

Hannah Arendt and the Limits of Total Domination Michal Aharony, 2015-03-05. Responding to the increasingly influential role of Hannah Arendt's political philosophy in recent years, Hannah Arendt and the Limits of Total Domination: The Holocaust, Plurality, and Resistance critically engages with Arendt's understanding of totalitarianism. According to Arendt, the main goal of totalitarianism was total domination, namely the virtual eradication of human legality, morality, individuality, and plurality. This attempt in her view was most fully realized in the concentration camps, which served as the major laboratories for the regime. While Arendt focused on the perpetrators' logic and drive, Michal Aharony examines the perspectives and experiences of the victims and their ability to resist such an experiment. The first book-length study to juxtapose Arendt's concept of total domination with actual testimonies of Holocaust survivors, this book calls for methodological pluralism and the integration of the voices and narratives of the actors in the construction of political concepts and theoretical systems. To achieve this, Aharony engages with both well-known and non-canonical intellectuals and writers who survived Auschwitz and Buchenwald concentration camps. Additionally, she analyzes the oral testimonies of survivors who are largely unknown, drawing from interviews conducted in Israel and in the U.S. as well as from videotaped interviews from archives around the world. Revealing various manifestations of unarmed resistance in the camps, this study demonstrates the persistence of morality and free agency even under the most extreme and dehumanizing conditions, while cautiously suggesting that absolute domination is never as absolute as it claims or wishes to be. Scholars of political philosophy, political science, history, and Holocaust studies will find this an original and compelling book. Introducing Corpora in Translation Studies Maeve Olohan, 2004-08-05. Written by Maeve Olohan, a leading name in the field and offering a comprehensive account of the use of corpora by today's translators and researchers, this book is the definitive guide to a fast-developing area of study. The Making of Chinese-Sinophone Literatures as World Literature Kuei-fen Chiu, Yingjin Zhang, 2021-12-21. In The Making of Chinese-Sinophone Literatures as World Literature, Kuei-fen Chiu and Yingjin Zhang aim to bridge the distance between the scholarship of world literature and that of Chinese and Sinophone literary studies. This edited volume advances research on world literature by bringing in new developments in Chinese Sinophone literatures and adds a much-needed new global perspective on Chinese literary studies beyond the traditional national literature paradigm and its recent critique by Sinophone studies. In addition to a critical mapping of the domains of world literature, Sinophone literature and world literature in Chinese to delineate the nuanced differences of these three disciplines the book addresses the issues of translation genre and the impact of media and technology on our understanding of literature and literary prestige It also provides critical studies of the complicated ways in which Chinese and Sinophone literatures are translated received and reinvested across various genres and media and thus circulate as world literature The issues taken up by the contributors to this volume promise fruitful polemical interventions in the studies of world literature from the vantage point of Chinese and Sinophone literatures An outstanding volume full of insights with chapters by leading scholars from an admirable range of perspectives Chiu and Zhang's The Making of Chinese Sinophone Literatures as World Literature expertly integrates Chinese and Sinophone studies with world literature scholarship opening numerous possibilities for future analyses of literature media and cultural history Karen L Thornber Harvard University This book is at once the best possible introduction to recent debates on world literature from the perspective of Chinese Sinophone literatures and a summa critica that thinks through their transcultural drives global travels varied worldings and translational forces The comparative perspectives gathered here accomplish the necessary and urgent task of reconfiguring both the idea of the world in world literature and the ways we study the inscriptions of Chinese Sinophone literatures in the world Mariano Siskind Harvard University
