Meeting, 2002 Tongue and Mother Tongue takes on two compelling challenges the language question and the place and role of the mother tongue in African literature This collection is the culmination of the fierce decades old debate on the question of African literature and its criticism The fourteen essays range from a variety of critical and theoretical perspectives covering the theoretical and ideological aspects of the language question the nature of criticism the influence of the oral tradition critical analysis of mother tongue literature and textual analyses How the Victorians Lived Shona Parker, 2024-08-30 The Victorian era's societal changes and cultural advancements are explored through the lens of daily life The Victorian era is arguably the most exciting and invigorating reign of an English monarch ever and one of progress on a massive scale By the time Queen Victoria died in 1901 England was almost unrecognisable The Victorians neatly avoided revolution built upon what the Georgians started and turned the country into a political powerhouse which ran the biggest Empire the world had ever seen Meanwhile Victorian writers and journalists were observing questioning and recording for posterity the life and times of what would become known as the Victorian era a steady relentless building of the modern world Using quotes from Victorian literature How the Victorians Lived will help you on your way to understanding how society coped with the upheaval of the industrial revolution during one of the most innovative centuries England has ever seen This book is a detailed exploration of the daily lives of mainly working and middle class Victorians It recreates the remarkable and wondrous world of the English Victorians their traditions their expectations their hopes and their fears and how these have shaped the society we live in today Social Sustainability Veronica Dujon, Jesse Dillard, Eileen M. Brennan, 2013-08-21 How can we raise the standard of living of the world's poor and maintain high levels of social health and well being in the developed world while simultaneously reducing the environmental damage wrought by human activity The social dimension of sustainability is becoming recognized as a necessary if not sufficient condition for attaining economic and environmental sustainability The requisite dialogue requires inclusion at multi levels This collection of works is an ambitious and multi disciplinary effort to indemnify and articulate the design implementation and implications of inclusion Included are theoretical and empirical pieces that examine the related issues at the local national and international levels Contributors are grounded in Sociology Economics Business Administration Public Administration Public Health Psychology Anthropology Social Work Education and Natural Resource Management Gala Shona Cole, 2014-12-07 It is the year 2053 19 year old Gala has lost almost everything her parents her husband her belief in the dictatorship of New West Living in a fractured America she is faced with a chance to escape and start over in another part of the country Venturing into unknown territory Gala meets many new people like the amazing Johnson family and specifically Luke an older but handsome widower raising a teen daughter alone and his cousin Nash a young interesting man who is willing to give up so much to help her Will Gala find what she desperately desires acceptance security and true love Or is it an unattainable a hope Gala is a journey of hope and love and is inspired in part by the biblical book of Ruth Oral

Literature in Africa Ruth Finnegan, 2012-09 Ruth Finnegan's Oral Literature in Africa was first published in 1970 and since then has been widely praised as one of the most important books in its field Based on years of fieldwork the study traces the history of storytelling across the continent of Africa This revised edition makes Finnegan's ground breaking research available to the next generation of scholars It includes a new introduction additional images and an updated bibliography as well as its original chapters on poetry prose drum language and drama and an overview of the social linguistic and historical background of oral literature in Africa This book is the first volume in the World Oral Literature Series an ongoing collaboration between OBP and World Oral Literature Project A free online archive of recordings and photographs that Finnegan made during her fieldwork in the late 1960s is hosted by the World Oral Literature Project <http://www.oralliterature.org/collections/rfinnegan001.html> and can also be accessed from publisher's website Theologies of Childhood and the Children of Africa Jan Grobbelaar, Gert Breed, Alfred Brunsdon, Marcia J. Bunge, Sam Ndogo, Hannes (J.J.) Knoetze, Nico Vorster, 2016-12-31 The purpose of this book is to combine perspectives of scholars from Africa on Child Theologies from a variety of theological sub disciplines to provide some theological and ministerial perspectives on this topic The book disseminates original research and new developments in this study field especially as relevant to the African context In the process it addresses also the global need to hear voices from Africa in this academic field It wants to convey the importance of considering Africa's children in theologising The different chapters represent diverse methodologies but the central and common focus is to approach the subject from the viewpoint of Africa's children The individual authors varied theological sub disciplinary dispositions contribute to the unique and distinct character of the book Almost all chapters are theoretical orientated with less empirical research although some of the chapters refer to empirical research which the authors have done in the past Most of the academic literature in the field of Theologies of Childhood is from American or British European origin The African context is fairly absent in this discourse although it is the youngest continent and presents unique and relevant challenges This book was written by theological scholars from Africa focussing on Africa's children It addresses not only theoretical challenges in this field but also provides theological perspectives for ministry with children and for important social change Written from a variety of theological sub disciplines the book is aimed at scholars across theological sub disciplines especially those theological scholars interested in the intersections between theology childhood studies and African cultural or social themes It addresses themes and provide insights that is also relevant for specialist leaders and professionals in this field No part of the book was plagiarised from another publication or published elsewhere before

The Motion Picture Guide Jay Robert Nash, Stanley Ralph Ross, 1985 African Migration, Human Rights and Literature Fareda Banda, 2020-12-24 This innovative book looks at the topic of migration through the prism of law and literature The author uses a rich mix of novels short stories literary realism human rights and comparative literature to explore the experiences of African migrants and asylum seekers The book is divided into two Part one is conceptual and focuses on art activism and the myriad ways in which people have sought to write justice Using Mazrui s diasporas of slavery and colonialism it then considers histories of migration across the centuries before honing in on the recent anti migration policies of western states Achiume is used to show how these histories of imposition and exploitation create a bond which bestows on Africans a status as co sovereigns of the First World through citizenship The many fictional examples of the schemes used to gain entry are set against the formal legal processes Attention is paid to life post arrival which for asylum seekers may include periods in detention The impact of the increased hostility of receiving states is examined in light of their human rights obligations Consideration is paid to how Africans navigate their post migration lives which includes reconciling themselves to status fracture taking on jobs for which they are over qualified while simultaneously dealing with the resentment borne of status threat on the part of the citizenry Part two moves from the general to consider the intersections of gender and status focusing on women LGBTI individuals and children Focusing on their human rights and the fictional literature chapter four looks at women who have been trafficked as well as domestic workers and hotel maids while chapter five is on LGBTI people whose legal and literary stories are only now being told The final substantive chapter considers the experiences of children who may arrive as unaccompanied minors Using a mixture of poetry and first person accounts the chapter examines the post arrival lives of children some of whom may be citizens but who are continually made to feel like outsiders The conclusion follows starting with two stories about walls by Hadero and Lanchester which are used to illustrate the themes discussed in the book Few African lawyers write about literature and few books and articles in Western law and literature look at books by or about Africans so a book that engages with both is long overdue This book provides fascinating reading for academics students of law literature gender and migration studies and indeed the general public
