the theoretical and methodological issues involved Emphasizing the danger of facile equivalencies between visual and verbal meanings his primary focus is Roman praxis manifest in for instance the strict patterning of Sol imagery These patterns encode core concepts that Sol imagery evoked when deployed and in those concepts we recognize the bedrock of Rome's understandings of the sun and his cult Case studies illustrate these concepts in action and the final chapter analyzes the historical context in which previous now discredited views on Sol could arise This is volume II of a two volume set The

Mamluk Sultanate from the Perspective of Regional and World History Reuven Amitai,Stephan

Conermann,2019-06-17 The Mamluk Sultanate represents an extremely interesting case study to examine social economic and cultural developments in the transition into the rapidly changing modern world On the one hand it is the heir of a political and military tradition that goes back hundreds of years and brought this to a high pitch that enabled astounding victories over serious external threats On the other hand as time went on it was increasingly confronted with modern problems that would necessitate fundamental changes in its structure and content The Mamluk period was one of great religious and social change and in many ways the modern demographic map was established at this time This volume shows that the situation of the Mamluk Sultanate was far from that of decadence and until the end it was a vibrant society although not without tensions and increasing problems that did its best to adapt and compete in a rapidly changing world

The Religion of Life Sarah Walsh, 2022-01-25 The Religion of Life examines the interconnections and relationship between Catholicism and eugenics in early twentieth century Chile Specifically it demonstrates that the popularity of eugenic science was not diminished by the influence of Catholicism there In fact both eugenics and Catholicism worked together to construct the concept of a unique Chilean race la raza chilena A major factor that facilitated this conceptual overlap was a generalized belief among historical actors that male and female gender roles were biologically determined and therefore essential to a functioning society As the first English language study of eugenics in Chile The Religion of Life surveys a wide variety of different materials periodicals newspapers medical theses and monographs produced by Catholic and secular intellectuals from the first half of the twentieth century What emerges from this examination is not only a more complex rendering of the relationship between religion and science but also the development of White supremacist logics in a Latin American context
