World History Curriculum California Standards Test:

Reading Like a Historian Avishag Reisman, 2011 Enthusiasm about the instructional potential of primary sources dates to the late 19th century and has been echoed recently in the work of literacy experts historians and educational psychologists Yet no extended intervention study has been undertaken to test the effectiveness of primary source instruction in real history classrooms This study with 236 eleventh grade students in five San Francisco high schools represented the first large scale extended curriculum intervention in disciplinary reading in an urban district The Reading Like a Historian RLH curriculum constituted a radical departure from traditional textbook driven instruction by using a new activity structure the Document Based Lesson in which students used background knowledge and disciplinary reading strategies to interrogate and then reconcile historical accounts from multiple texts A quasi experiment control design measured the effects of a six month intervention on four dimensions 1 students historical thinking 2 their ability to transfer historical thinking strategies to contemporary issues 3 their mastery of factual knowledge and 4 their growth in general reading comprehension MANCOVA analysis yielded significant main effects for the treatment condition on all four outcome measures Qualitative analyses of videotaped classroom lessons were conducted to determine the frequency and nature of whole class text based discussion Only nine whole class text based discussions were identified in over 100 videotaped classroom lessons despite the presence of instructional materials explicitly designed to support student discussion of debatable historical questions Analysis of teacher and student participation suggests a relationship between active teacher facilitation that reviews background knowledge and poses direct questions about texts and higher levels of student argumentation This dissertation is structured as three free standing papers each of which addresses one aspect of the larger study In the first paper I discuss the design of the quasi experimental study and report quantitative findings In the second paper I locate teacher facilitation of whole class historical discussion in the literature on classroom discourse and I propose a developmental framework for analyzing student historical argumentation in classroom discussion In the third and final paper I discuss the theoretical underpinnings of the intervention curriculum and offer two examples to illustrate the structure of the Document Based Lesson

California in a Time of Excellence James Andrew LaSpina, 2009-02-26 California in a Time of Excellence follows the Golden State's efforts to reform its public school system from 1983 to the present Beginning with progressive curriculum reform initiatives that were launched even before the National Commission on Excellence in Education NCEE issued A Nation at Risk in 1983 James Andrew LaSpina traces these reform efforts through recurring culture wars major clashes of personality and a conflict between the state's tradition of progressive educational policy and a culture of conservatism that colored much of the so called Left Coast's history since the sixties While the battles over curriculum reform in California reflect those at the national level the political world surrounding this conflict reveals the enormous significance of the conflict and its implications for our national future

Educational Governance and Accountability Daniel W. Hancock,2009-09 Contemporary Readings in Curriculum Barbara Slater Stern,Marcella L. Kysilka,2008-03-20 This book of readings provides readers with an historical context of the curriculum field Contemporary Readings in Curriculum focuses on how curriculum may be organized and what is happening in the academic and co curriculum of schools The readings also address the political nature and current debates of curriculum and how we must be attentive to the increasingly diverse populations found in our schools Measuring History S. G. Grant,2009-03-01 Measuring History complements the cases presented in Wise Social Studies Practices Yeager Davis 2005 Yeager and Davis highlight the rich and ambitious teaching that can occur in the broad context of state level testing In this book the chapter authors and I bring the particular state history tests more to the fore and examine how teachers are responding to them At the heart of Measuring History are cases of classroom teachers in seven states Florida Kentucky

Michigan New York Texas Mississippi and Virginia where new social studies standards and new and generally high stakes state level history tests are prominent In these chapters the authors describe and analyze the state s testing efforts and how those efforts are being interpreted in the context of classroom practice The results both support and challenge prevailing views on the efficacy of testing as a vehicle for educational reform Catherine Horn University of Houston and I lay the groundwork for the case studies through a set of introductory chapters that examine the current environment the research literature and the technical qualities of history tests
