Mary Berry: The Queen of British Baking - The Biography A.S. Dagnell,2013-01-29 Mary Berry is one of Britain's most respected and well loved gurus of the kitchen The undisputed Queen of the Aga has been the focus of many television shows and regularly contributes her expertise on Woman's Hour The recent hit BBC show The Great British Bake Off has once again put Mary back into the limelight and has reignited a passion for baking across the nation Inspired by domestic science classes at school Mary took a catering course at her local college before gaining a qualification from the Cordon Bleu school in Paris After a stint working for the Electricity Board where she demonstrated to new owners of electric cookers how to operate them by cooking a Victoria sponge and then as editor for Housewife and Ideal Home magazine Mary published her first cookbook The Hamlyn All Colour Cookbook in 1970 and hasn't looked back since As well as cookery books Mary has collaborated with her daughter Annabel to produce their own range of dressings and sauces which are now sold worldwide But her personal life has also been touched by tragedy as her son William was killed in a car accident at the age of just 19 With over 70 cookery books under her belt there is no doubt that Mary Berry is one of Britain's most successful cookery writers Awarded the CBE in 2012 her gentle personality and classic family cooking style are a remarkable contrast to some of the more outspoken celebrity television chefs just one of the reasons why even after over forty years in the industry she is so well loved This is her fascinating story

Race, Culture and Media Anamik Saha,2021-03-24 How do media make race How do legacies of empire shape our understandings of race and media How does racism structure the media industries Is the internet an inherently white space Understanding the relationship between race culture and media has never been more important From the demonisation of Muslims to rampant new forms of racism on digital platforms media are central to understanding how race is both constructed and experienced in everyday life Yet media are key to resisting racism too While they can silence and stereotype us they can also enable us to cut across difference to contest and mobilise and to create genuine community Race Culture and Media is a critical impassioned and accessible exploration of this complex relationship Anamik Saha outlines the theories concepts and research you need to know in order to make sense of race culture and media today challenging you to move beyond simplistic notions of diversity to really engage with issues of both power and participation It is essential reading for students and researchers across media communication and cultural studies Dr Anamik Saha is Senior Lecturer in Media and Communications at Goldsmiths University of London where he convenes the MA Race Media and Social Justice

Intimate Eating Anita Mannur,2022-01-04 In Intimate Eating Anita Mannur examines how notions of the culinary can create new forms of kinship intimacy and social and political belonging Drawing on critical ethnic studies and queer studies Mannur traces the ways in which people of color queer people and other marginalized subjects create and sustain this belonging through the formation of intimate eating publics These spaces

whether established in online communities or through eating along in a restaurant blur the line between public and private In analyses of Julie Powell s Julie and Julia Nani Power s Ginger and Ganesh Ritesh Batra s film The Lunchbox Michael Rakowitz s performance art installation Enemy Kitchen and The Great British Bake Off Mannur focuses on how racialized South Asian and Arab brown bodies become visible in various intimate eating publics In this way the culinary becomes central to discourses of race and other social categories of difference By illuminating how cooking eating and distributing food shapes and sustains social worlds Mannur reconfigures how we think about networks of intimacy beyond the family heteronormativity and nation

Slow Scholarship Catherine E. Karkov, 2019 A powerful claim for the virtues of a more thoughtful and collegiate approach to the academy today This book offers a response to the culture of metrics mass digitisation and accountability as opposed to responsibility or citizenship that has developed in higher education world wide as exemplified by the UK s Research Excellence Framework exercise REF and the increasing bureaucracy that limits the time available for teaching research and even conversation and collaboration Ironically these are problems that will be solved only by academics finding the time to talk and to work together The essays collected here both critique the culture of speed in the neoliberal university and provide examples of what can be achieved by slowing down by reclaiming research and research priorities and by working collaboratively across the disciplines to improve conditions They are informed both by recent research in medieval studies and by the problematic culture of twenty first century higher education The contributions offer very personal approaches to the academic culture of the present moment Some tackle issues of academic freedom head on others more obliquely but they all have been written as declarations of the academic freedom that comes with slow thinking slow reading slow writing and slow looking and the demonstrations of its benefits
