around him says it's an amazing gift. If only Lenny could figure out what it is. Lenny works for Terrifitemps, a temp agency that specializes in employing gifted people, people capable of confronting The Forces of Evil and saving the world on a regular basis. Lenny barely survived his first mission. Now he has to join his team of supernatural sleuths for something even more dangerous: his first actual temp job. It's a job filled with peril: ghosts, vampires, werereatures, aliens, and even a tribe of Bigfoot Bigfeet. And is anyone prepared for the overwhelming might of the Pooka Patrol? Lenny sure isn't. Praise for Craig Shaw Gardner and his work: The field needs more humorists of this caliber. Robert Asprin, Gardener skewers all the clichés of quest fantasy with wit, style, mordant irony, and great glee. This series could have been serialized in National Lampoon or filmed by one of the Pythons. Spider Robinson, Infectiously enthusiastic storytelling. Publishers Weekly. Craig Shaw Gardner is the author of eighteen fantasy novels with titles like A Malady of Magicks and Revenge of the Fluffy Bunnies, more than forty short stories, and two short story collections, and over a dozen novelizations and tie-in novels to such properties as Batman, Buffy, Back to the Future, and the Battlestar Galactica reboot, which suggest he can only work on projects beginning with the letter B. A native of Rochester, New York, he now lives in the greater Boston area with his wife and the two cats who run the household.

Lash, Come Back! Rusty Mongrel, 2023-10-29. Author Rusty Mongrel offers us his charming action-packed debut novel in which a boy wishes for an all-powerful superhero to rescue his family from ruin, but instead gets a superhero from the 1940s: a whip-wielding pistol-packing singing cowboy and his sidekicks out of touch with the changes of the last seventy years. Ride along with Lash Larson as he goes mano a mano against the ruffians, motorcycles, gangs, and an evil land baron of the 21st century. For young, older, and old alike. Dear Readers, there is only one known photo of the man claiming to be Rusty Mongrel: a blow-up taken from one of our security cameras as he hurried into our publishing office late one evening at closing time. Unfortunately, that photo is far too murky to share with you here. But allow me to describe him. Dressed in dusty denim, a saddlebag slung over his shoulder, he resembled an extra from a western B-movie of the 1950s. The sweat-stained Stetson he wore had what looked to be a bullet hole through its crown. Before we could stop him, he moved quickly toward the desk of one of our secretaries. Politely removing his hat, he withdrew a manuscript from his saddlebag and tossed it onto her desk. Its title page read Lash, Come Back! She began explaining our proper submission procedures in minute detail, but her lengthy rambling instructions not only confused but actually seemed to terrify him. Panic-stricken, he bolted and dashed from our office, leaving his Stetson and manuscript behind. We hurried outside in time to watch him leap onto a saddled horse tied to a parking meter. As the horse reared up dramatically, he hollered "Yahooo" or was it "Yippee"? Accounts vary, and then raced the wrong way up a one-way street, deftly dodging oncoming traffic as he disappeared into the night. And that's all we know about this man claiming to be Rusty Mongrel. We have no idea who he is or his whereabouts, as all we have to go on is the young adult novel you hold in your hands and the Stetson hat left in our office. Please accept our apology as we are fully aware that this bio is lacking in every respect.

Spaces of Surveillance Susan Flynn, Antonia Mackay, 2017-08-22 In a world of ubiquitous surveillance watching and being watched are the salient features of the lives depicted in many of our cultural productions This collection examines surveillance as it is portrayed in art literature film and popular culture and makes the connection between our sense of self and what is seen In our post panoptical world which purports to proffer freedom of movement technology notes our movements and habits at every turn Surveillance seeps out from businesses and power structures to blur the lines of security and confidentiality This unsettling loss of privacy plays out in contemporary narratives where the selves we create are troubled by surveillance This collection will appeal to scholars of media and cultural studies contemporary literature film and art and American studies

Technology and the Making of Experimental Film Culture

John Powers,2023

The Bolex camera 16mm reversal film stocks commercial film laboratories and low budget optical printers were the small gauge media technologies that provided the infrastructure for experimental filmmaking at the height of its cultural impact Technology and the Making of Experimental Film Culture examines how the avant garde embraced these material resources and invested them with meanings and values adjacent to those of semiprofessional film culture By reasserting the physicality of the body in making time lapse and kinesthetic sequences with the Bolex filmmakers conversed with other art forms and integrated broader spheres of humanistic and scientific inquiry into their artistic process Drawing from the photographic qualities of stocks such as Tri X and Kodachrome they discovered pliant metaphors that allowed them to connect their artistic practice to metaphysics spiritualism and Hollywood excess By framing film labs as mystical or adversarial they cultivated an oppositionality that valorized control over the artistic process And by using the optical printer as a tool for excavating latent meaning out of found footage they posited the reworking of images as fundamental to the exploration of personal and cultural identity Providing a wealth of new detail about the making of canonized avant garde classics by such luminaries as Carolee Schneemann Jack Smith and Stan Brakhage as well as rediscovering works from overlooked artists such as Chick Strand Amy Halpern and Gunvor Nelson Technology and the Making of Experimental Film Culture uses technology as a lens

for examining the process of making where ideas come from how they are put into practice and how arguments about those ideas foster cultural and artistic commitments and communities
