European integration The book argues that the Commission used these trade agreements signed primarily with countries in Asia and Latin America to advance European integration by ensuring that they became wider in scope and institutionally deeper by establishing joint bodies even in the face of resistance from member states in the Council of the European Union Drawing upon principal agent theory to explain Commission autonomy and Council control as well as extensive archival material and other sources across six in depth case studies it shows that the Commission primarily relied on asymmetric information to shape trade agreements in earlier negotiations In later negotiations the Commission harnessed its agenda-setting power to submit agreements that the Council could only accept or reject Overall the book argues that these 50 trade agreements significantly impacted European integration by increasing the Commission's external action capability transforming it into a truly global political actor one trade agreement at a time This book will be of interest to scholars and students of European Union Studies and EU policy making practitioners involved in trade and external relations and engaged citizens in Europe and abroad particularly in India which is prominently featured in the book Introduction Chapter of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
