Handbook of Research on Theory and Practice of Financial Crimes Rafay, Abdul, 2021-03-18 Black money and financial crime are emerging global phenomena During the last few decades corrupt financial practices were increasingly being monitored in many countries around the globe Among a large number of problems is a lack of general awareness about all these issues among various stakeholders including researchers and practitioners The Handbook of Research on Theory and Practice of Financial Crimes is a critical scholarly research publication that provides comprehensive research on all aspects of black money and financial crime in individual organizational and societal experiences The book further examines the implications of white collar crime and practices to enhance forensic audits on financial fraud and the effects on tax enforcement Featuring a wide range of topics such as ethical leadership cybercrime and blockchain this book is ideal for policymakers academicians business professionals managers IT specialists researchers and students The International Compendium of Construction Contracts Phillip Greenham, Society of Construction Law Australia, 2021-05-10 This book examines how the most commonly used construction project contracts are applied in a range of countries around the world The specific situation of each of the almost 40 countries studies is dealt with in a dedicated chapter allowing for easy comparison between differing legal and commercial environments Each chapter contextualizes the relevant contracts within the legal and commercial systems prevalent in a particular country and examines a number of common issues impacting construction projects around the world This unique book will be an essential resource for construction law specialists around the world because of its focus on commonly used contracts and the contextualizing of these contracts into the legal and commercial environment of each studied country All contributions are from practicing construction project lawyers ensuring that the quality of the information and analysis is of the highest standard State Formation After Civil War Derek M Powell, 2016-08-05 State formation after civil war offers a new model for studying the formation of the state in a national peace transition as an integrated national phenomenon Current models of peacebuilding and state building limit that possibility reproducing a fragmented selective view of this complex reality Placing too much emphasis on state building as design they place too little on understanding state formation as unplanned historical process The dominant focus on national institutions also ignores the role that cities and civic polities have played in constituting the modern state Mining ideas from many disciplines and evidence from 19 peace processes including South Africa the book argues that the starting point for building a systematic theory is to explain a distinct pattern to state formation that can be observed in practice Despite their conflicts people in fragile societies bargain terms for peaceful coexistence they make attempts to constitute the right to rule as valid state authority in circumstances prone to conflict over which they have imperfect influence not control Though the kind of institutions created will differ with context how rules for state authority are institutionalized follows a consistent basic pattern That pattern defines state formation in peace transitions as both a unified if contingent field of normative practice and an object of comparative study Where the national centric models see local government as a matter belonging to policy on decentralization for later in the reconstruction phase the book uncovers a distinct local government dimension to peace transitions A civic dimension to national conflicts that must be explained incipient or proto local authorities that emerge even during civil war in peace making after state collapse the fact that it is common for peace agreements and constitutions to include rules for local authority for local elections to be held as part of broader democratization and for laws to be enacted to establish local government as part of peace compacts The book develops the concept of local peace transition to explain the distinctive constitutive role of this local dimension in peace making and state formation This path breaking book will be of compelling interest to practitioners scholars and students of comparative constitutional studies international law peace building and state building

World Bank Financing of Education Phillip W. Jones, 2002-09-11 First Published in 1992 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Living on Borrowed Time Zygmunt Bauman, Citlali Rovirosa-Madrado, 2010 The global financial crisis has shattered the illusion that all was well with capitalism and forced us to confront the great challenges we face today with a new sense of urgency Few are better placed to do this than Zygmunt Bauman a social thinker whose writings on liquid modernity have pioneered a new way of seeing the world in which we live at the dawn of the 21st Century Our liquid modern world is characterized by the transition from a society of producers to a society of consumers the natural extension of which is the society of perpetual debtors The ruling idea of the society of consumers is to prevent needs from being satisfied and to create demand its natural extension is to enable consumers to consume more by borrowing Debt was transformed into a crucial profit earning asset of capitalism in liquid modern times The present day credit crunch is not the outcome of the banks failure but rather the fruit of their success in transforming the majority of men and women young and old into a race of debtors They got what they were looking for a society of debtors whose condition of being in debt was made self-perpetuating with more debts being offered and more undertaken as the only way of escaping from the debts already incurred. Starting from this reflection on the current global financial crisis and prompted by the probing questions of his interlocutor Citlali Rovirosa Madrazo, Bauman examines in an historical perspective some of the most pressing moral and political issues of our time: from international terrorism and the rise of religious and secular fundamentalism to the decline of the nation state and the threats posed by global warming issues whose seriousness and urgency attest to the fact that we are living today not only on borrowed money but also on borrowed time.

World Bank East Asia and Pacific Economic Update, Spring 2020 World Bank, 2020-04-07. Growth in the developing East Asia and Pacific region slowed sharply in 2020Q1 because of the negative impact of the Covid 19 on economic activity. The decline has been broad-based, reflecting the interconnectedness of the EAP economies and reverberations from the global economy as the virus turned into a pandemic. The Covid 19 outbreak followed an extended period of subdued growth in the region amid multiple external headwinds and heightened trade policy uncertainty. China and other regional economies have implemented monetary and fiscal policy measures to mitigate the negative impact of the outbreak. Growth in the East Asia and Pacific EAP region is projected to slow from 5.8 percent in 2019 to lower than expected 5.2 percent in 2020, reflecting the expected negative effects of the COVID 19. In this baseline scenario, which is subject to significant uncertainty, growth in the region is expected to recover to 5.6 percent in 2021 as the impact of Covid 19 gradually dissipates. In the medium term, regional growth is expected to continue its downward trend, reflecting multiple structural headwinds. Policymakers should focus on designing economically efficient transmission control policies that consider both the marginal costs and the marginal benefits of preventive measures. Such policies would ideally be based on countries' preparedness and exposure as well as economic circumstances. Targeted fiscal and monetary policies can help reduce the economic disruption caused by COVID 19 in the short term. In the medium term, there is a need to restore depleted buffers, address sources of financial instability, and invest in preventing and coping with infectious disease. Given the growing interdependence between EAP countries, coordinated policies and investments could increase resilience to shocks.

Post-Independence Development in Africa David Mhlanga, Emmanuel Ndhlovu, 2023-07-11. The book Post-Independence Development in Africa: Decolonisation and Transformation Prospects revisits the development debates and development realities in Africa. This is achieved by offering theoretical comments about post-independence development in Africa and by providing historical details pertaining to the development approaches adopted in Africa immediately after independence in the 1960s and mid-70s. Sitting at the intersection of two sets of scholarly literature—namely, literature on development and literature on development discourses and practices in Africa—the book comprises a mixture of detailed sector-specific accounts of the status of development on the continent. The chapters in the book also contribute to clarifying how the two strands of literature intersect using several case studies across Africa.

Law and Development Yong-Shik Lee, 2022-01-31. The book examines the theory and practice of law and development It introduces the General Theory of Law and Development an innovative approach which explains the mechanisms by which law impacts development This book analyzes the process of economic development in South Korea South Africa and the United States from legal and institutional perspectives The book also explains why the concept of development is not only relevant to developing countries but to developed economies as well The new edition includes five new chapters addressing the relationships between law and economic development in several key areas including property rights political governance business transactions state industrial promotion and international trade and development
