that this is partly because traditional explanations have put too much emphasis on racial disparities in economic resources both in homes and in schools and on demographic factors like family structure They say that successful theories will put more emphasis on psychological and cultural factors such as the way black and white parents teach their children to deal with things they do not know or understand and the way black and white children respond to the same classroom experiences Finally they call for large scale experiments to determine the effects of schools racial mix class size ability grouping and other policies In addition to the editors the contributors include Claude Steele Ronald Ferguson William G Bowen Philip Cook and William Julius Wilson Army and Navy Journal ,1924
