Resources in education, 1991 Constructed Wetlands for Wastewater Treatment in Hot and Arid Climates Alexandros Stefanakis, 2022-10-11 This edited book presents the first collection of case studies and research projects on the sustainable technology of constructed wetlands for wastewater management under hot and arid climates It is the first such work that summarizes in a single reference the current international experiences and knowledge on the implementation of this nature based solution under these diverse and often harsh climatic conditions It covers the relevant gap in the fragmented and limited literature by providing integrated information and documentation on the feasibility of this green technology The book presents the treatment efficiency of constructed wetland facilities and the research output from 29 different countries across South America Africa Asia and Oceania while it covers various applications such as domestic and municipal wastewater various industrial effluents and municipal sludge Many examples and case studies further demonstrate the potential of this technology to contribute to better address the issues of water scarcity and limited fresh water resources through circular management of treated effluents e.g. reuse in irrigation. It also discusses the various challenges and technical aspects that should be considered in such climates along with the environmental, financial and social benefits of this technology. Index Medicus, 1971 Veterinary Public Health: Veterinary Medicine's Current Challenges in a Globalised World

Diana Meemken, Ivan Nastasijevic, Reinhard Fries, Suporn Thongyuan, 2025-03-21. The transfer of zoonotic agents leading to diseases and epidemics is well known as well as the role played by human activity in the transmission of such agents. Veterinary Public Health (VPH) has an essential role in keeping transmissible diseases under control and it involves different disciplines and the application of different techniques. VPH has generally a local and regional focus in sample collection. Disease detection may be limited to specific areas. Despite this aspect of VPH, the importance of exchanging data, discoveries and information cannot be overlooked due to the ever-changing landscape in global trade, transboundary diseases and extended animal movements. On a local scale, VPH needs often to face different challenges starting with the infrastructures for live stocks down to optimization using new technologies as Artificial Intelligence. There are instances where veterinary services are not readily available and temporary solutions need to be found as for example paraveterinary services. The latter should be guaranteed by adequate professional training along the different stages of, as an example, the food chain production. Given the transboundary nature of zoonotic agents and diseases in the last decades, the One Health approach has emerged as a new and holistic approach to incorporate the different facets of Veterinary Science. To strengthen this approach, veterinary training should eventually dedicate more attention to public health and to preventive measures of zoonosis and epidemics. This renewed focus will also have the additional benefit of defining more clearly the discipline of VPH. Human Public Health with the same philosophy should include the animal ecosystem, emerging diseases and zoonoses focusing on the Human-Animal Interface. Law and the Political Economy of Hunger Anna Chadwick, 2019-01-31. This book is an inquiry into the role of law in the contemporary political economy of hunger. In the work of many international institutions, governments and NGOs, law is represented as a solution to the persistence of hunger. This presentation is evident in the efforts to realize a human right to adequate food as well as in the positioning of law in the form of regulation as a tool to protect society from unruly markets. In this monograph, Anna Chadwick draws on theoretical work from a range of disciplines to challenge accounts that portray law's role in the context of hunger as exclusively remedial. The book takes as its starting point claims that financial traders caused the 2007-8 global food crisis by speculating in financial instruments linked to the prices of staple grains. The introduction of new regulations to curb the excesses of the financial sector in order to protect the food insecure reinforces the dominant perception that law can solve the problem. Chadwick investigates a number of different legal regimes spanning public international law international economic law transnational governance private law and human rights law to gather evidence for a counterclaim law is part of the problem The character of the contemporary global food system a food system that is being progressively financialized owes everything to law If world hunger is to be eradicated Chadwick argues then greater attention needs to be paid to how different legal regimes operate to consistently privilege the interests of the wealthy few over the needs of poor and the hungry Current Bibliography of Epidemiology ,1976 Monthly with annual cumulations Comprehensive current index to periodical medical literature intended for use of practitioners investigators and other workers in community medicine who are concerned with the etiology prevention and control of disease Citations are derived from MEDLARS tapes for Index medicus of corresponding date Arrangement by 2 sections i e Selected subject headings and Diseases organisms vaccines No author index Congressional Record Index ,1985 Includes history of bills and resolutions Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications ,1993
