Malka,2022-08-15 Beginning in the 1960s second wave feminism inspired and influenced dramatic changes in the nursing profession Susan Gelfand Malka argues that feminism helped end nursing s subordination to medicine and provided nurses with greater autonomy and professional status She discusses two distinct eras in nursing history The first extended from the mid 1960s to the mid 1980s when feminism seemed to belittle the occupation in its analysis of gender subordination but also fueled nursing leaders drive for greater authority and independence The second era began in the mid 1980s when feminism grounded in the ethics of care appealed to a much broader group of caregivers and was incorporated into nursing education While nurses accepted aspects of feminism they did not necessarily identify as feminists Nonetheless they used passed on and developed feminist ideas that brought about nursing school curricula changes and the increase in self directed and specialized roles available to caregivers in the twenty first century Medicine and Society in Wakefield and Huddersfield

1780-1870 Hilary Marland,1987-09-24 This ambitious book presents an across the board study of medicine in any urban centre for any period of British history By selecting Wakefield and Huddersfield as contrasting types of northern towns and examining in details their systems of medical care Dr Marland has written a local history that says something important about the country as a whole Wakefield and Huddersfield contrasted in their economic demographic and social development during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries allowing an effective comparative analysis of medical facilities in the two communities By drawing on diverse sources from Poor Law and philanthropy to self help organisations fringe medicine and medical practice the book places the development of medical services against the backdrop of the communities in which they evolved their class structure organization and social civic and economic developments
